TULANE UNIVERSITY: NEW ORLEANS

EX LIBRIS 1922

Foreword

"Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight"
— Ernest Leslie

We have endeavored to present, in the following pages, a record of achievements during the past year.

If, in the dim, distant future, cherished memories of our days at Tulane may be awakened by the perusal of this, the so that we too will desire that Time turn backward in his flight, enabling us to again live thru our happy college days, then indeed shall our work not have been in vain, and we shall feel amply repaid for our efforts.

1922 JAMBALAYA,

To those who, thru their aid have made this volume possible, we extend our heart-felt thanks and appreciation.

In Memoriam

ALPHONSE MARIN LA MESLEE

Alphonse Marin La Meslee, Professor of Romance Languages at Tulane University for the past seven years, died at Brookline, Mass., on Thursday, November 24, 1921, while waiting for a ship to carry him back to France, having obtained leave of absence for one year to pursue his studies in France and Italy.

A native of France, and a graduate of the University of Paris, after receiving the degree of Bachelor of Letters, he came to America, teaching at Harvard University, and receiving the degree of M.A. for advanced studies there. He later taught at the University of Chicago and at the United States Military Academy, coming to Tulane in 1914.

Professor La Meslee had a charming personality, was a congenial friend to the students, and judged many debates at Tulane, being especially interested in debating activities.

EDGAR H. FARRAR

On Friday night, the sixth of January, 1922, there died at Biloxi, Miss., Mr. Edgar H. Farrar, the eminent member of the Louisiana bar and a member of the Board of Trustees of Tulane University, being selected by Paul Tulane in 1882 to occupy that position.

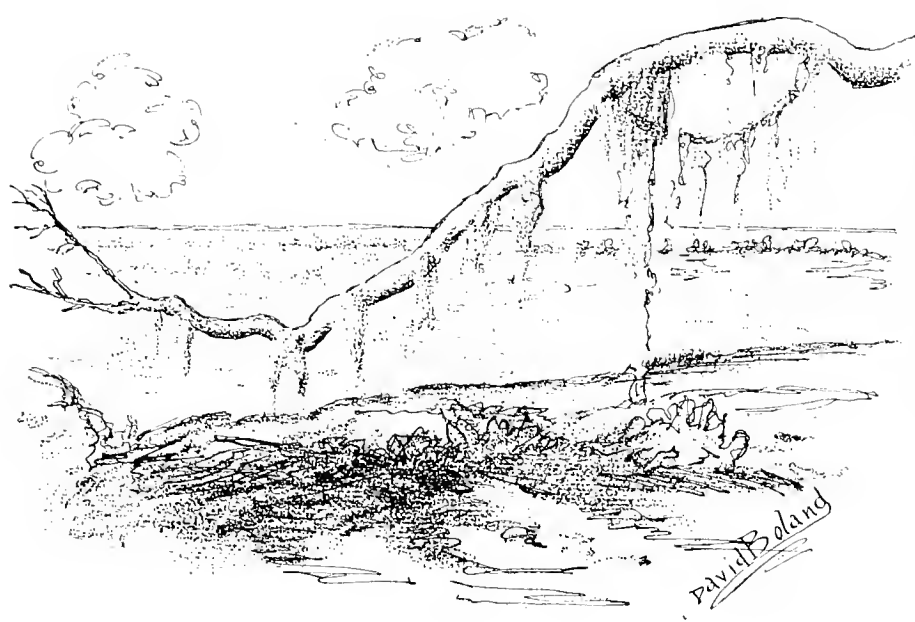

For some thirty years Mr. Farrar was a commanding figure in the legal profession, being considered an authority on tax law. He prepared all the revenue legislation at the Constitutional Convention in 1913.

He was one of the outstanding figures in the legal, civic and political life of Louisiana, and was a nationally-known lawyer.

His death is sincerely mourned by the trustees of the university, and by all those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

University Council

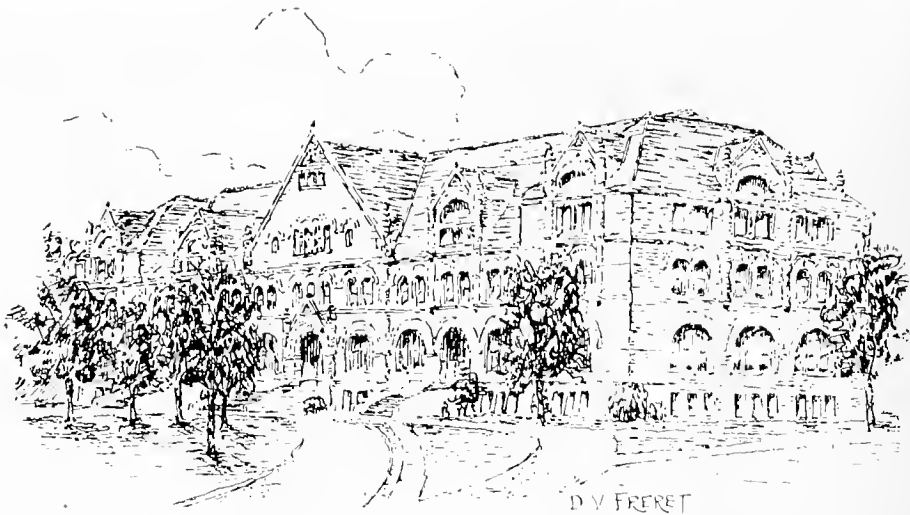

The University Council consists of the president of the university, as chairman, the deans of the several colleges or departments who are members ex-officio, and of one member elected by the faculty of each of the colleges or departments from its own number to serve for two years.

The council considers all scholastic questions relating to university administration or policy which in its opinion are of general university concern, and has jurisdiction to decide all such questions. Matters of dissent by any faculty from action by the council are referred to the Board of Administrators for decision.

Members of the University Council for 1921-1922: President Dinwiddie, President Emeritus Sharp, Deans Aldrich, Anderson, Bechtel, Butler, Chassaing, Fletcher, Foster, Wood, and Professors Cocks, Derickson, Eustis, Gessner, Halsey, Lyon, McBryde, Magruder, A. H. Northrop, Parry, and Miss Florence Dymond and Mr. Gustaf R. Westfeldt of the Alumni Advisory Committee.

*The first building on the campus
And the first one that we view,
Is Gibson Hall, beloved by all
The sons of old T. U.*

*Here's the Tilton Library, known by us all,
Where searching for knowledge we make our call.*

*The Administration Building. Doesn't it look severe?

D. V. FRERET

*Guarded as in a dungeon keep,

Here Juniors and Seniors of the Medical College Finish their search for professional knowledge.

*The uptown medics spend two years
In the Richardson Memorial, 'mid sighs and tears.*

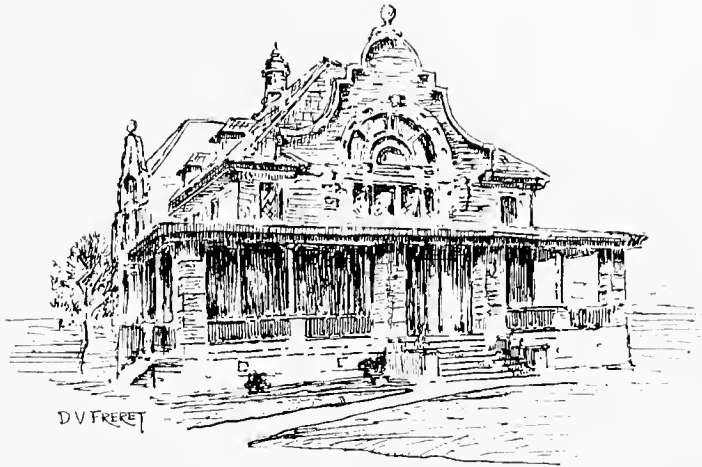

*A. & S. Dorms. Here the students stay,
And Kappa Kappa Mu holds sway.*

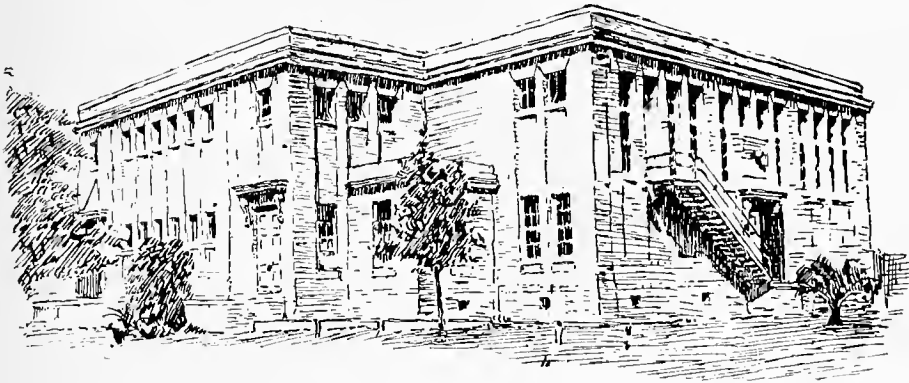

*The Administration Building at Newcomb
Once more meets your gaze,
As it shines forth in all its glory,
Reflecting the setting sun's rays.*

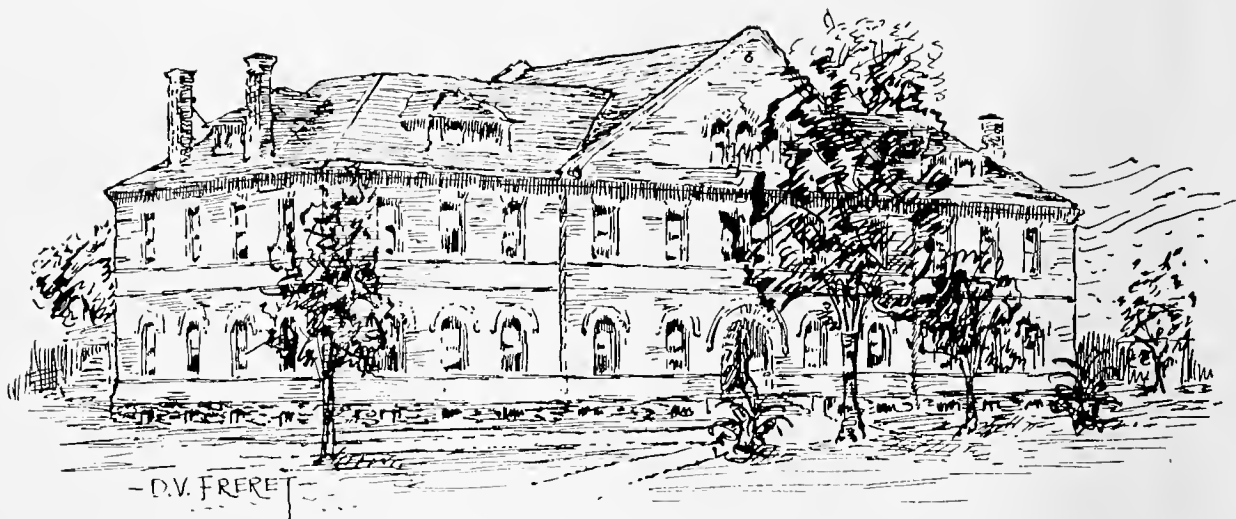

*Stanley Thomas Hall is now shown to you;
On the third floor here this volume grew.*

When do we eat? Like a battle cry Rings out. Then to the Refectory we fly.

*To develop our muscles we have Tulane Gym,
So here we work and we dance with vim.*

Has ended full many a college career.*

*Grimy studes in clothes of all sorts
Here strive for knowledge in Mechanic Arts.*

Senior Class History

SEPTEMBER, 1918—Everything is so new! The buildings and we freshmen are the newest things of all. Things seemed pretty lonesome at first, but we've all got big sisters, which helps a lot. Mine's a peach!

December, 1918—I just have to laugh when I think of how those sophomores must feel. We are all crazy about our caps. They are very becoming. And what an honor it is to be the first wearers of the green!

November, 1919—Everyone is delighted because 1922 has established the wearing of the green cap as a custom at Newcomb. It is no longer a hazing stunt.

November, 1920—Everyone seems to have liked our idea of having a wedding between the juniors and freshmen. It went off very well indeed.

May, 1921—May Day is over, praises be! And we'll have a chance to breathe. I think our idea was splendid and well managed. Everybody thought we had a well-chosen court. But, goodness! will you ever forget the wild excitement of choosing? The dormitory girls entertained Ozona (Lyda Roberts) and the court at dinner; the tables were decorated with tiny Maypoles, and the whole thing was darling.

December 21, 1921—Last day before the holidays. We started the custom of having holiday chapel, and everyone proved to be very enthusiastic.

January, 1922—Senior precedence passed by Student Body.

February 3, 1922—Today we had our Senior Party to the faculty. We acted the old and modern verses of Mother Goose rhymes. Jack Horner's pie proved to be full of "Eskimo pies" for the faculty.

Junior Class Poem

My mind has been a-seeking
For something to be speaking
About this good old Class of '23;
And I've only been a-finding
Praises that are blinding
And qualities as good as good can be.

Madame Fortune's leaning,
And I'm not good at screening
The fact that she's a-leaning this here way;
And the gifts that she's bestowing,
And the conquests that are growing,
Seem to shine a little brighter every day.

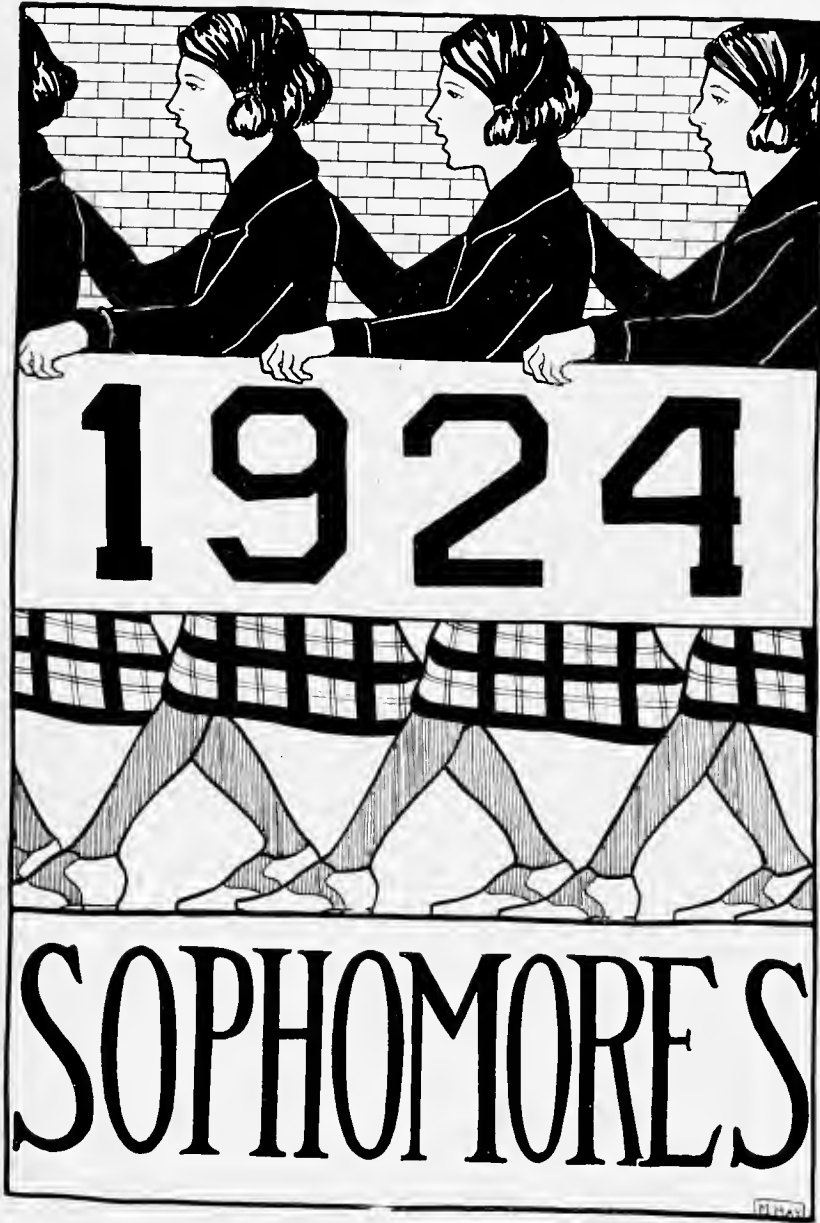

Now, I don't mean to be boasting,
And, sure, I'm not a-roasting
The other classes snooping 'round about;
But I just mean to be telling,
Without loud shouts and yelling,
That '23's the best without a doubt.

Now we don't go 'round a-struttin',
And we aren't proud, that's suttin',
And we're not a-saying that there's only "we."
Oh, we don't mean to be boasting,
We're simply here a-toasting
To the fellows in old 1923.

MARJIE MOSS.

Sophomore Class Poem

Oh, who is the star in the class room and gym;
Is full of "witality, wigor and wim,"
And makes things go with a boom and a bim?
The Soph!

Who is the girl that makes living worth while?
With the head of a woman and heart of a child—
She weeps when you weep and smiles when you smile.
The Soph!

Who has it, will keep it, and won't lose her pep?
Who walks on the chalk-line and watches her step?
Who's never yet failed to live up to her "rep"?
The Soph!

Who will accomplish whatever she'll start?
Who'll be "on the job" to attend to her part?
Who'd die for old Newcomb with all of her heart?
The Soph!

JAMBATAWA

The Freshman Class

We're freshmen—yes! And we're proud of it!
We're green as can be—there's no doubt of it!
 Tho' we're not bright,
 We will get there all right!
For we freshmen have pep—and we're proud of it!

Yes, we're proud to be freshmen—and proud to be green—
For there's much to be learned—and so much to be seen.
 We are eager to learn,
 And for knowledge we yearn—
We freshmen the seniors call green!

Oh, seniors are wonderfully wise—that we know—
And juniors, sweet things, are quite learned also;
 Of the sophs, it were well
 That this pen should not tell—
But the freshmen are cleverest, you know!

We're freshmen—yes—and we're proud of it!
We're not very wise—there's no doubt of it!
 But when of pep there is need,
 Who of all take the lead?
The freshmen. They never are out of it!

He came, he saw, he conquered—his ambition.

Now, he's just a law stude, studying like perdition. Ask him for a copy of his latest work, "Trying to make two years in one at Tulane."

ROBERT HUGH BRUMFIELD

MAGNOLIA, MISSISSIPPI

Z N, Φ X

Scientific.

Ho! the champion in parlor athletics.

A deep student in the science of aesthetics.

If you want to see the shortest distance between two points, look at the part in Bob's hair.

HYMAN LEON COHEN

COAHOMA, MISSISSIPPI

Scientific; Secretary Arts and Science Student Body (4).

Never a snake dance but was led by "Fatty."

Capitol and gym prance—he makes 'em ratty.

He knows more about everything than any two professors. Both seen and heard. "The joy of smoking would be lost were I to buy my cigarettes."

PIERRE ARMAND DONALDSON

Scientific.

He's just a little quiet;

Never starts a riot.

But he'll make a swell M.D. some day. "Oh, where will I spend my vacation "

GEORGE D. FELDNER

LEWIS SCHERCK ALCUS

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Wrestling (1), (2); Vice-President Engineering Society (4).

Every one will agree that for his small size,

When among the fair sex, Louie is certainly wise.

Little Louie is an all-round good fellow and popular with the boys—and girls too.

CHARLES FLOYD ATTAWAY, II K A

LEEDS, ALABAMA

Civil Engineering; Class Wrestling (2); Interfrat Basketball (2), (3); President Engineering Society (1). "Floddy" is the handsomest man in the class.

He admits that in no such contest will he be passed.

"Floddy" is a conscientious worker, but does not allow work to stand in the way of his many social affairs.

FRANK PAUL BROUSSARD

BREAUX BRIDGE, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Tug-o'-War (1), (2); Band (2), (3), (4); Manager Band (3); Class Vice-President (3); Class President (4); President Academic Dormitory Board (4); Engineering Society (3), (4). All hail the Senator; Broussard is his name.

To the great city of Breaux Bridge he has brought fame.

"Brous" is one of the charter-members of the Tulane Band, and it is this fact together with his renowned "moostache" that draws the attention of the girls at the football games. And, oh yes! "Funny Guy" is quite a politician.

PHILIP CAMPBELL, JR.

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Class Track (1); Tug-o'-War (2); Engineering Society (3), (4); Vice-President Engineering Student Body (4).

When it comes to dances at a party or ball,

"Red" does the "Campbell" walk in every hall.

To all his rivals in love "Red" carries the danger sign in his hair, and one of these days he will cut phonograph records in Honduras.

JOSEPH SAUL COHEN

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Tug-o'-War (1), (2); Wrestling (1), (2); Class Jambalaya Representative (3); Student Body Jambalaya Representative (4); Tulane Engineering Society (3), (4).

Now here's a bright scholar whom you all must know;

He answers to the name of "Professor Joe."

Joe is one of the live wires of the class, and will be a walking advertisement for Tulane.

STEPHEN V. J. D'AMICO, K Δ Φ

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

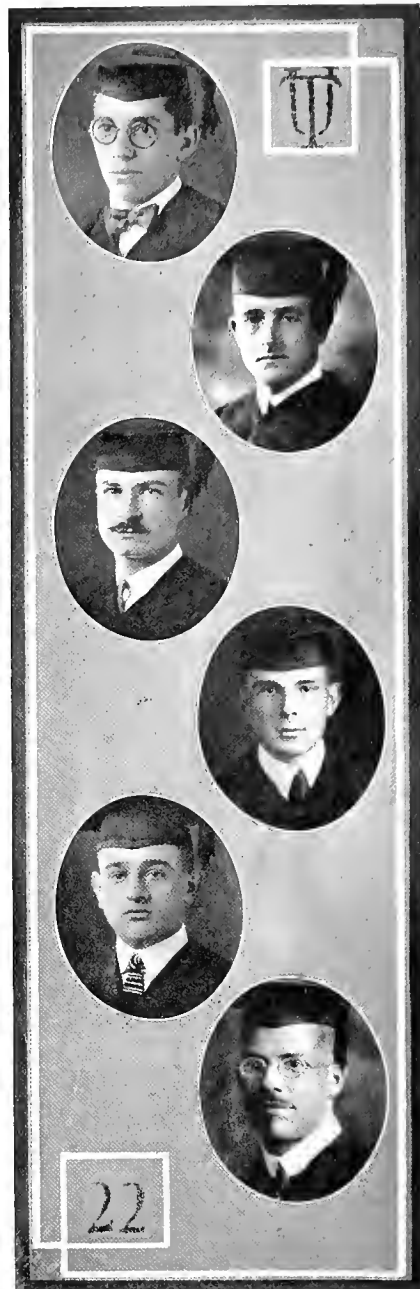

Architecture; Square and Compass; Varsity Wrestling (1), (2); Tug-o'-War (2); Tulane Night and Circus (2); Tulane Promotion Force (4), (5); Engineering Society (3), (4), (5); President Architectural Society (3), (4), (5); Staff Artist Jambalaya (3); Art Editor Jambalaya (4); Editor-in-Chief Jambalaya (5).

As an artist, Steve will win great renown;

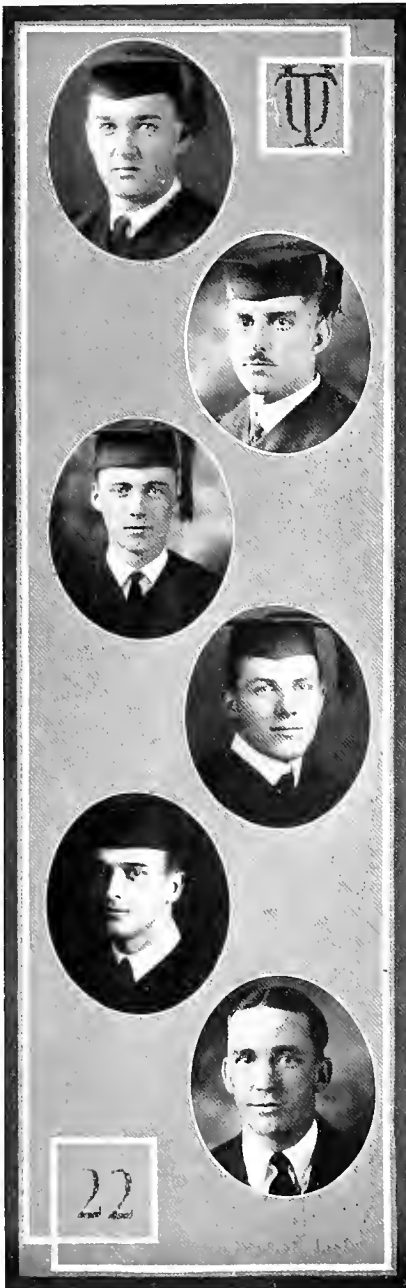

He can design anything from a building to a clown.

Steve has been Tulane's official artist for the past few years, and has never failed to donate his drawings for any good cause.

Editor's Note (with apologies to Kipling)—"We shall rest and, in faith, we shall need it."

HENRY HARRELD DINKINS, JR., K Λ, Λ Φ M
SCOTT, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Tulane Engineering Society (3), (4); S. A. A. Wrestling (1), (2); S. A. A. Wrestling Champion 135 Lbs. (2); Varsity Wrestling (1), (2); N. A. A. Wrestling (1); Class President (1); Sphinx Club; Olive and Blue.

It is quite a boast from the city of Scott, That H. Harreld calls it his home spot.

Harreld is one of the leaders in social activities on the campus and is a good fellow in every way.

DONALD ALLARD DUPLANTIER
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Civil Engineering; Tag-o'-War (2); Engineering Society (3), (4); Secretary-Treasurer Engineering Student Body (4).

A misplaced eyebrow is the height of Don's pride; Perhaps SHE gave the order that there it should abide.

Little Don has quite an advantage over the rest of the class in starting his engineering profession, in that he bears the same name as the "Big Don," and that counts for a lot.

JAMES LEE FULMER, O T Λ
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Engineering Society (3), (4); Class Jambalaya Representative (2).

Jimmie is a dashing lover, it is easy to be seen, For he is a wonderful type of the jelly bean.

Jimmie knows just how to mingle with the ladies. He's everybody's friend—especially hers.

CECIL ALFRED HALLAM, Λ Φ M
CLINTON, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Tulane Engineering Society (3), (4).

What is this sign? Who can it be?

Why, it reads, "Cecil Hallam—Consulting M. & E." "Lord Hallam" is a good student, quiet and unassuming, but noisy enough when the occasion presents. He's from Clinton, and is the pride of the old "home town."

WILLIAM TALMAN HESS, K Σ, Λ Φ M
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Interclass Athletics; Wrestling (1); Tulane Engineering Society (3), (4).

All right, fellers, hats off to Bill;

The "goat-getter" of profs is the roll he can fill. "Bill" is a good mixer. He knows how to get along with every one, including the profs.

HARRY HERBERT HUSTEDT, Δ Σ Φ
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Class Sports; Track; Basketball; Class President (2), (3); Y. M. C. A.

Harry's a runner and a good one at that;

He'll soon make the mile in three minutes flat. The class is proud of Harry for the fine school spirit that he has shown in his stay at Tulane. He puts life into every movement.

Senior Class

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

GEORGE RICHARD WILLIAM LEWIS NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Engineering Society (3), (4).

A mariner, but never on the sea;
That's "Salty" Lewis, now how can it be?

"Salty" found it hard to get rid of his sea-legs at the end of the S. A. T. C. He claims to have been at sea whenever he sat through one of "Pop's" classes.

OTTO THEODORE MAIER NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Secretary of Tulane Engineering Society (4).

As an engineer, Otto will be a success,
Or all the profs have made a bad guess.

Right this way, ladies and gentlemen. See Otto, the tallest man in three counties. The big boy makes every one look up to him.

JOHN ALBERT MILTON MONLEZUN, O T A NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Tulane Engineering Society (3), (4); Class Athletics; Second Team Football (2), (3), (4); Basketball (2).

Come on, girls; get in line;

But remember "Red's" speed is one at a time.

"Monty" is well liked by every one, especially the fair sex. It is probably the latter fact that causes him to take so much care of that "wee-wee" moustache.

EDWARD MITCHELL NABERSCHNIG NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Chemical Engineering; Engineering Society (3), (4).

"Nabby" as a chemical engineer,

Will develop a formula for wine, whisky and beer.

"Nabby" is an all-round good fellow and a conscientious worker. It was his influence that kept ex-Mayor Berhman in office for sixteen years.

ISIDORE LEON PASSES NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Civil Engineering; Class Wrestling (2); Band (2), (3), (4); Engineering Society (3), (4).

"Shorty" gulps that good old wine,

While "Those Tulane Greenbacks fall in line."

"Izzie" is another charter-member of the band. He's little, but loud. In all probability he will make his future home in Houston.

CHARLES LEWIS RITTENBERG NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Civil Engineering; Engineering Society (3), (4); Class Jambalaya Representative (4).

Being Jamh. Representative, Charlie left this space blank;

For his help we extend to him more than one thank.
"Shikey" gets along real well with every one, and unless there are any objections to his poetry featured here, we look for his continued success. He's a fine example of Tulane spirit.

Senior Class

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

ANDREW KACHEL SCHWARTZ

SAVANNAH, GEORGIA

Chemical Engineering; Class Basketball (2); Engineering Society (3), (4); President Engineering Student Body (4).

'Politician.' 'Cobalt.' 'Gaston'—any one is his name. As Mayor of Savannah, he'll win great fame.

If Andrew puts in as much time in his chemical laboratory as he has done in rounding up voters for elections, he'll make a wonderful success.

WILLIAM HOBSON SPAAR

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Civil Engineering; Class Football and Baseball (1), (2); Tug-o'-War; Chief Engineer, Summer Survey Camp (3); Engineering Society (3), (4).

A politician who can't be beat;

He hasn't lost an election, and that's a great feat.

"Hop" is the class politician and a good sport. When he becomes a candidate for congress, he will get the engineers' vote.

HELENE OLGA TEBERNE

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Chemical Engineering; Engineering Society (3), (4); Vice-President Class (4).

The only flower amongst the weeds;

In the chemical laboratory she'll perform great deeds.

Miss Teberne deserves a lot of credit and praise for having completed the Chemical Engineering course. She is one of the very few women who have accomplished this.

HANEY HUBERT TRUXILLO

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Civil Engineering; Tug-o'-War (1), (2); Class Secretary-Treasurer (4); Engineering Society (3), (4).

For hard work "Trux" has no fear;

Therefore he should make a whale of an engineer.

"Trux" is a persistent worker and usually obtains what he strives for. He has a good personality and is well liked by the entire class.

OLIVER PERRY WALKER

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Civil Engineering; Tug-o'-War (1), (2); Engineering Society (3), (4).

Here's a chap who to fame should rise;

He's in love with a school-teacher; you'd be surpris'd.

"Dixie" is already planning to build a bridge across the Mississippi. Who knows but that his "school-teacher" is a resident of Algiers?

PETER SIDNEY WINCHESTER, JR.

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Mechanical and Electrical; Engineering Society (3), (4).

Now behold, here's "Parallel Pete";

In the House or Congress, he'll soon have a seat.

Pete can be recognized from one end of the campus to the other by his trusty pipe. His motto is, "Always agree with the prof."

THE TULANE COUNCIL OF FRATERNITIES

The Interfraternity Council of Tulane University is the outgrowth of the old Pan-Hellenic Societies and is a result of the desire on the part of the fraternities and university authorities for a medium through which the various chapters in the university might come into close contact for the discussion of all matters conducive to the best interest of the fraternities and the university. It is composed of two men from each fraternity represented at Tulane, and a chairman, the last named being a member of the faculty. Its main objects are to fix rules and regulations relative to fraternity activities and conduct, to prompt interfraternity activities and contests, and to foster a better student spirit in the university.

Kappa Delta Phi is an honorary fraternity for the promotion of Tulane spirit. It selects each year from the Junior and Senior classes men who have been conspicuous for school spirit during their university careers. It seeks to obtain its object in two ways: First, by holding forth membership as a reward to those who have done more than the average man for their university; and, secondly, by binding together those who have made unusual effort, thus becoming a force for great good by securing unity

Pi Alpha Phi is the highest honor which can be bestowed upon a freshman in the university, and is similar to Kappa Delta Phi of the juniors and seniors. The Pi Alpha key is awarded to the freshmen who during their freshman year have performed the greatest duty for their class and school. The keys are awarded upon merit alone, and the election to membership is unlimited, thereby giving every freshman in the university an opportunity to strive for the greatest honor. The professor in Tulane who has performed the greatest amount of work for the freshmen of the university is elected to membership. The awards are made in May of each scholastic year.

The Glendy Burke Oratorical and Debating Society

The Glendy Burke upheld its traditional leadership of debating activities at Tulane last year when it placed five out of the eight varsity debaters. Its success continued this year, when the two Tulane contenders for the Carnot medal were Glendy Burkers, one of whom won the coveted prize.

From the interest taken in the meetings and the oratory displayed at them, it is an assured fact that the Glendy Burke will repeat its success of previous years. Though a few strayed from the fold during the year, the maxim, "Once a Glendy Burker always a Glendy Burker," brought many back into its ranks, so that its quota of membership is complete.

The Forum proudly acknowledges the placement last year of four debaters on the varsity team, and these four debaters were the only ones to participate in contests in which Tulane won the decisions. Walter M. Barnett, Jr., and F. Edw. Hebert won the first debate from Sewanee that that college has lost in eight years, while Harvey H. Hebert and William Porteous, Jr., defeated Washington and Lee, by the unanimous vote of the judges, in a stirring contest. To top this record, Gordon Brunson represented "ole T. U." in the State Oratorical Contest, being defeated only by a man who took more than the allowed time for his oration. But the Forum has not stopped yet; a better record can be looked forward to for the coming year. Watch our step!

At the beginning of the year 1920 there was founded at Tulane University a junior society which is intended to reward the virtue of college spirit and to fill the void that has existed as to tradition. It has ever been the wont to praise deeds accomplished. Election to membership is not only an expression of appreciation, but an obligation to future attempts. The work must be judged by its design and valued by its result. Certain it is that, as the years go by, the conferring of the honor of membership will heighten the glory and hallow the purposes of SPHINX.

THE PUBLIC UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

February 13th,
1922.

Mr. Otto Meyer,
Tulane University,
New Orleans.

Dear Mr. Meyer:

Some years ago, Mr. Stanley O. Thomas, a successful and distinguished business man of this community, presented Tulane University with a building, now known as Thomas Hall. As an expression of gratitude the University inscribed his name upon the building. When I arrived this morning I found your name also inscribed upon the building in almost as prominent a form as that of Mr. Thomas.

When, in after years, you shall have made the distinguished success which we confidently expect of you, and shall have endowed your Alma Mater with a similar building, we shall be only too glad to show our gratitude and appreciation in the same way. In the meantime, it hardly seems just to the memory of Mr. Thomas to give your name almost equal prominence with his on the building.

Yours very truly,

Joseph E. Condon
Dean.

CLYDE MOORE WARNER

DEL RIO, TEXAS

University of Texas; Sigma Chi; Kappa Psi; Class President, '20-21, '21-22; Student Council, '21-22; Olive and Blue; Stars and Bars; Honor Committee.

From the Rio Grande Valley, the land of hot tamales, hails our president. Clyde's singular popularity is shown by his having been president of the class during both his junior and senior years. Deliberate, unassuming, studious, Clyde is our idea of a good fellow, and one with whom it has been a pleasure to associate these four years.

ROBERT MITCHELL BRANNON

GREENVILLE, MISSISSIPPI

Mississippi A. & M.; Vice-President Class '21-22.

This lanky lad from the Delta has, during his three years' stay with us, made a record to be justly proud of. While making many friends, Brannon has not failed to learn the art as well as the science of medicine. His many genuine qualities assure for him an eminent position in the esteem of his classmates and colleagues.

SILAS CRUME FULMER

CONWAY, ARKANSAS

A.B., Hendrix College; B.Sc., University of Arkansas; Phi Chi; Secretary-Treasurer Class, '21-22; Editor-in-Chief Medical Section Jambalaya, '22.

Having completed the first two years of medicine at the University of Arkansas, Fulmer came to us with all the earmarks of a finished product. His personality and ability were soon recognized by the class, as shown by his election as editor-in-chief of the Medical Section of the Jambalaya. As a man, Fulmer is big physically, mentally and morally, and we predict that he will attain high honor in his profession.

CORINNE MARIE ROCQUET

B.A., Newcomb; Kappa Alpha Theta; Alpha Epsilon Iota; Alpha Omega Alpha; Stars and Bars; Class Historian, '21-22.

The mad social whirl having paled, Corinne, seeking diversion, hit upon Medicine, and was so pleased with her choice that she proceeded to make friends and admirers of both students and faculty, to say nothing of making both honorary fraternities. That her future career may be as successful as her student days, is the wish and expectation of all.

CHARLES EDWARD ABBOTT, JR.

TUSCALOOSA, ALABAMA

University of Alabama; Kappa Sigma; Phi Chi; Vice-President Class, '20-21; Royal Order of Runts; Olive and Blue; Varsity Baseball, '18-19; Manager Baseball, '20-21.

This sunny lad from Alabama has fallen harder and oftener than any man of our acquaintance. The determination and persistence which he has shown in his various bouts with Dan Cupid make his success in the medical world assured as soon as he conquers some daughter of Venus and makes the art of Aesculapius his major interest.

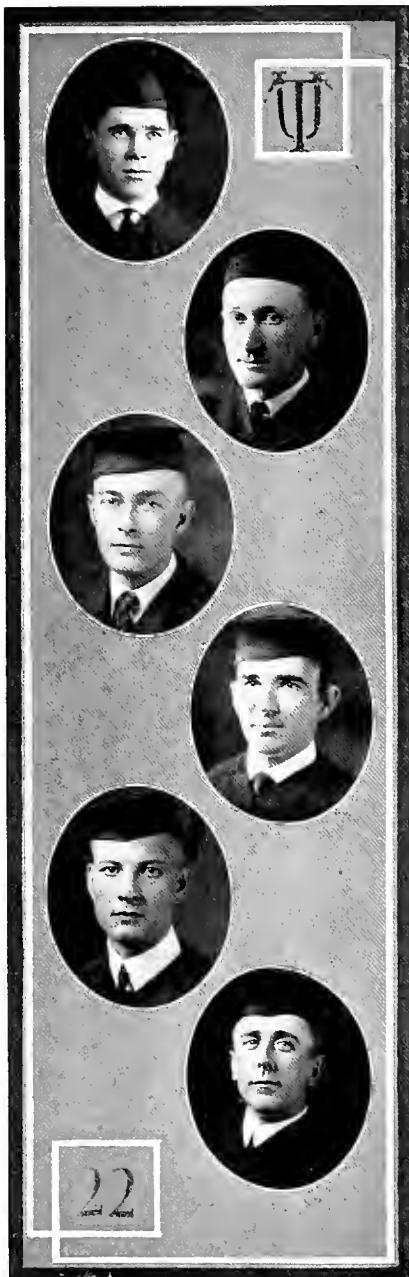

ROSS EPTING ANDERSON

BOONEVILLE, MISSISSIPPI

A.B., Mississippi College; Medical Certificate, University of Mississippi.

"Cabot" is a typical Mississippian. He came to us at the beginning of his junior year, and his personality, cheerful heart, and good disposition have won for him a host of friends. He worries over nothing, and is easy going—just the kind of fellow you like at first sight. In his work Anderson is thorough, and our hearty good wishes follow him in his future life.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN ARMSTRONG

MERKEL, TEXAS

A.B., Simmons College; Sigma Pi; Alpha Kappa Kappa.

"Army" came to us as a junior from the "Longhorn State." He at once made many friends by his genial disposition and his enthusiasm for every proposed holiday. His good nature and social proclivities have not interfered with his work, and we predict that the "Lone Star" State will have another star when he returns.

JUSTIN EDWARD BELL

SIMSBORO, LOUISIANA

A.B., Baylor University; Chi Zeta Chi; Alpha Omega Alpha; Stars and Bars; Square and Compass; Vice-President Class, '19-20; Honor Committee, '20-21.

Justin came to us from the army, entering the Freshman Class three months late. His many honors testify to his ability to overcome this handicap. Personality plus good hard work is the secret of his success. Wherever he may go, Bell is destined to stand out as one of Medicine's best and most capable men.

M. ELDRIDGE BLACK

HARTFORD, ALABAMA

B.S., University of Alabama; Pi Kappa Phi; Kappa Psi.

Black is from Alabama and is proud of it. He never worries and gets the maximum returns from minimum efforts. His policy is to cultivate the faculty of differentiating quality from quantity in Medicine. The profession holds for him great possibilities, and we believe that he will do credit to his native state.

THOMAS CLAYTON BREWER

MARSHVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

B.S., University of North Carolina; Kappa Psi; North Carolina Club.

Tom is that rare type of man endowed with the ability to make friends of all he meets. He has a high sense of honor and justice, a perfect endowment of mankind, and a frank expression which is a criterion of the inner man. With his cheerful, friendly disposition, affable geniality, and studious nature, success should await him.

FRANCIS MARION BURKE

LIVINGSTON, TEXAS

University of Texas; President Sophomore Class, '19-20; Honor Committee.

Burke, a product of the "Longhorn State," is one of the most consistent workers in the class. His record for the four years puts him in the front ranks. His service at Hotel Dieu has stood him in good stead and, as a diagnostician, he has few equals in the class. Incidentally, he has not neglected his social obligations, and the future is bright for developments.

HULL WESLEY BUTLER

Pharm.B., St. Louis College of Pharmacy; Omega Phi; Alpha Omega Alpha; Stars and Bars; Student Assistant, Materia Medica.

With Butler, "deeds speak louder than words." For the past four years he has been a most indefatigable worker, always finding time, however, to lend a helping hand. His reputation is unassailable, his ideals are high, and his friendship to be coveted. His knowledge of pharmacy, medicine and human affairs assures for him success wherever he may go.

JAMBATA

DEWITT TALMADGE BYROM

POTEET, TEXAS

A.B., Baylor University; Sigma Chi; Nu Sigma Nu; Varsity Football Squad, '21.

DeWitt, another Texan, joined our ranks in the junior year, bringing with him the vigor and virility of the western prairies. He is a clean sport, a hard worker, and a true friend. Byrom's future work will bring honor to Poteet, Baylor, and Tulane.

HARRY CAPLOVITZ

NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT

A.B., Yale.

Caplovitz decided that Tulane was the place to finish Medicine and accordingly, joined the class in 1920. It is doubtful if there is a more studious man in the class. He is particularly interested in research work. "Cap" joined the ranks of the benedicts last summer, thus disposing of one of life's greatest problems.

JAMES LEO CARLISLE

MOBILE, ALABAMA

University of Alabama; Alpha Omega Alpha; Stars and Bars.

Those who know Jimmie are entertaining the highest confidence in his ability to make "the world beat a pathway to his office door," for he is the possessor of those sterling qualities which make success a certainty. If he can use instruments as well as he can sell them, the world's surgeons have great competition in store for them.

FRANK LEE CATO, JR.

AMERICUS, GEORGIA

University of Wisconsin; Phi Delta Theta; Theta Nu Epsilon; Phi Chi; Royal Order of Runts; Student Assistant, Anatomy and Phys. Chemistry, '19-20.

"Rooster" learned the futility of wine, women and song while yet a freshman, so discarded women and song. Ducks are now the only genus of the feathery tribe which keep him up late and early. Did you know bottles make wonderful decoys? Frank is full of good old horse sense, and is one of the best informed men in the class.

HENRY NUNNELEE COATS

ASHDOWN, ARKANSAS

Tulane; Phi Beta Pi.

Coats, the biggest man in the class, hails from old reliable Arkansas. Having fought the battle of Camp Martin during the war, he was commissioned and sent down the Mississippi, where the mosquitoes blacken the sun's rays. Coats lived through the war, though, and reentered the School of Medicine, more determined than ever to get his "sheepskin" and carry it, as a trophy, to his friends in Ashdown.

JOHN AUGUSTUS CROCKETT

CHAPEL HILL, TEXAS

University of Texas; Phi Kappa Sigma; Kappa Psi; Class Poet, '19; Chairman Wit and Humor Com., '22.

John Augustus Crockett, the pride of Chapel Hill, joined us in the sophomore year from the University of Texas, Lyons, France, et cetera. The curative properties of "Better Half" never had a better "before and after taking" advertisement than in the case of John. With a natural ability and a personality possessed by few, his success as a physician is assured.

BAXTER CLYDE CULLER

KERNERSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

A.B., Wake Forest College; Phi Rho Sigma.
Baxter joined us in the junior year, coming from Wake Forest. A man with a good motto, "It is the constant dripping that weareth away the stone." Culler puts his whole soul into his work, and his perseverance has won the esteem of the entire class. During his two years here, he has gained much from his pursuit of Morpheus.

FLORAU WILLIAM DIRMANN, JR.

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Tulane; Phi Rho Sigma.

Dirmann is one of the few New Orleans boys who has taken his entire course, Pre-Medical and Medical, at Tulane. Like many other members of the class, he has paid for his learning with the hairs of his head. Although naturally reserved, Dirmann is frank and outspoken in his convictions. His aspiration is to be a Noguchi.

ROBERT LAPSLEY DODD

KOSCIUSKO, MISSISSIPPI

Kappa Psi.

We find in "Lap" a rare and enviable combination of a keen intellect and good common sense, a man endowed with the ability to reason, to think, and to apply. He is admired by all for his fairness and his unusual loyalty to his friends. By means of his varied experiences and professional attributes, he will make a speedy rise in the medical world.

ETHEL MARIE DROUIN

MANSURA, LOUISIANA

Tulane.

Although Miss Drouin was originally of the Class of '21, we feel honored to have her reach her goal with us. A charming girl, indeed, is she with her "Parlez-vous Francais" and her bewitching smiles. But hark! ye readers, she isn't a vamp, as you might suspect, but when the superficialities are brushed away, she is as firm as Gibraltar itself.

HAROLD OLIVER ERNST

Tulane; Delta Sigma Phi; Phi Alpha Sigma.

Races, prizefights and allied sports occupied most of Ernst's time for the first two years. But during his junior year he took unto himself a wife, who promptly tied him to the home fireside. Since that time he has convinced both students and faculty that he is a man of unusual ability—another testimonial for marriage.

HARRY REED FARMER

COMO, MISSISSIPPI

University of Mississippi; Sigma Chi; Nu Sigma Nu. Harry matriculated in the Sophomore Class, having had the first two years at the University of Mississippi. During his stay here he has been a steady and dependable worker, but not too serious "to relish a little nonsense now and then." When the Class of '22 has gone in divers directions, Harry can be depended upon to uphold the traditions of old Tulane.

ROBERT ROSE GILLESPY

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA

B.S., University of Alabama; Alpha Tau Omega; Phi Chi; Olive and Blue.
 "Bob" has been with the class through its entire course, sharing equally with the other members its joys and sorrows. He has made himself popular with every one by his good nature, singing, jokes, ingenuity and undying determination—a trait most characteristic of Alabama medical men. A mere glance at this chap explains his popularity with the fairer sex.

MORRIS GLAZER

NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT

Ph.B., Yale; Tau Epsilon Phi.
 Glazer, having seen service in Yale, decided to study Medicine right, so he cast his lot with us as a junior. He is a thorough and practical student, and has the makings of a successful medical man. Yale's loss of Glazer is Tulane's gain.

MARY GOORVICH

MOORAWJAWO, RUSSIA

Russian Gymnasium.

Mary joined our ranks in the sophomore year, after graduating from a Russian gymnasium and completing her freshman year at the University of Texas. Forging ahead with us year by year, Miss Goorvich has reached the goal of her ambition. In the United States or Russia, success will be hers.

ROBERT LIONEL GORDON

B.S., Tulane; Sigma Pi; Chi Zeta Chi; Stars and Bars.

R. L. is another home boy who appreciated his own Tulane. His present high altitude was attained only after six years of "toiling upward in the night." He used to love the girls, "but it is all over now"—one among many, just naturally weak along that line. His future is very promising, and we are sure that he will add greater distinction to a name already illustrious.

GEORGE BASS GRANT

BEAUMONT, TEXAS

Emory and Henry; Delta Tau Delta; Nu Sigma Nu.
 When Grant walks into a ward, the patients sigh with relief and the nurses giggle for glee. The confidence he inspires is better for his patients than any medicine, and when you join this with rare judgment, thorough knowledge, and a magnetic personality, you get a combination which will make him famous.

EDWIN NICHOLAS HALLER

University of Alabama; Sigma Pi; Alpha Kappa Kappa.

Ed, the ladies' man from Alabama, is the boy with the big blue eyes that vamp them. He is a four-year man and has fought the battle of Audubon Park with many of us. Ed stays about two laps behind with his sleep. This deficiency is probably due to burning midnight oil in quest of medical lore.

JAMBALAYA

FOREST WORTH HARRELL

RUSTON, LOUISIANA

Kappa Sigma; Phi Chi.

"Cajon" hails from Ruston, somewhere in Louisiana. Though low in stature, he looms high in his scholastic work. Again, he is a wonderful combination of the qualities that go to make up an all-round good fellow. We feel certain that in the near future the sound of his approaching footsteps will be sweet music to many a patient's ears.

HELEN ELIZABETH HINTON

McCOMB, MISSISSIPPI

A.B., Newcomb; Phi Mu; Stars and Bars; President Medical Women's Association.

Helen is one of the few who has run Tulane's gauntlet for the past four years without a scratch. She is always right—if the book is. Miss Hinton thinks thoroughness is a good motto for the followers of Hippocrates, and she expects conscientious effort to receive its reward in success.

ABD-EL-MALIK IBRAHIM

CAIRO, EGYPT

A.B., Assint, Egypt; Square and Compass.

Ibrahim joined us in our junior year. We felt highly honored that he should select Tulane, leaving behind the University of Cairo. We predict new things in Mizraim when Dr. Ibrahim returns. If only Cleopatra's Needles were home, they would come in handy in his surgical work. Ibrahim is studious, has lofty ideals, and success crowns him who "hitches his wagon to a star."

JAMES ARTHUR JOHNSON

TULA, MISSISSIPPI

B.S., University of Mississippi; Phi Rho Sigma.

Johnson is a quiet, modest and unassuming fellow with the "elements gently mixed in him." He is one of the type that has no enemies, for he attends strictly to his own business and envies no man his good fortune. Possessing the traits of honesty and a willingness to work, we foresee much success for him.

PAUL EARNAL JOHNSON

FORT SMITH, ARKANSAS

Tulane; Square and Compass.

Paul E. has been with us throughout the entire journey down the long and dusty road, cheering and amusing us with witty sayings. Being always on the job—morning, noon and night—he is a student to the core and a storehouse of knowledge. When we gaze in the crystal globe, we see nothing but success for Johnson.

EDLEY HICKS JONES

VICKSBURG, MISSISSIPPI

B.S., Mississippi College; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Phi Chi; Stars and Bars; Alpha Omega Alpha; Class Historian, '21; Business Manager Medical Section Jambalaya, '22.

Edley's record at Tulane is an enviable one, as shown by the honors above. He has, however, not confined his good works to studies alone, but has taken a prominent part in all student activities. His greatest ambition is to be an eye specialist, and we hope that he will be as successful in this as he is on Broadway.

Jambalaya

JAMES EARL JONES NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Texas Christian University; Chi Zeta Chi; President Isadore Dyer Forum, '21.

"Texas" is a rather unique character with a professional tendency, eccentric characteristics, and a variable constitutional temperament combined to produce a rather dominating personality. The sky is the limit for his friends. Earl has the faculty of obtaining the greatest returns on the least investment. His fund of reserve ability will make him a leader.

WILLIAM ELLIE JONES CAMDEN, ALABAMA

B.S., University of Alabama; Sigma Pi; Chi Zeta Chi. Jones is one of the few who, during his last year, was extern at Hotel Dieu, deeply in love, and yet a good student. He talks little, thinks much, and smiles constantly. With his great store of practical knowledge and laboratory experience, he ought to be a winner from the start.

ROYALL THOMAS LILES MONROE, NORTH CAROLINA

A.B., Wake Forest College; Phi Rho Sigma. Liles came to Tulane in his junior year and has won an enviable place in the class. Though an ardent lover of his studies, he has not left undeveloped the other side of his life, as shown by his firm adherence to the command, "Five nights shalt thou work." His attentiveness to his duties, combined with his manly personality, means a successful career.

WILLIAM MCGINTY MCBRIDE ANSLEY, LOUISIANA

Kappa Sigma; Phi Chi; Square and Compass. "Mc" is a student after Hippocrates' own heart. He is a product of North Louisiana, nurtured on the milk of human kindness, and the type of man that makes a country worth while. His congenial and unassuming nature has won for him universal class friendship. The Senior Class and the medical profession will be better for having associated with this red-headed boy.

THOMAS JEFFERSON MCELHENNEY ENSLEY, ALABAMA

B.S., University of Alabama; Nu Sigma Nu. Tom came to us in our junior year from Alabama. He is truly a prince, good-natured and full of pep. With his professional appearance and gifted intellect, the future must unfold to him boundless success. In the fortunate city wherein he chooses to reside, we know that there will be at least one excellent doctor.

WEBSTER BLAKELY MAJORS BURKBURNETT, TEXAS

B.S., University of Oklahoma; Alpha Kappa Kappa; Square and Compass; Acacia. "Grandpa" slammed his name on the roll books here as a junior, and continued to rate that high until he was officially notified that he knew enough to be a senior. He is already worrying about what to specialize in, but thinks there is a brighter future in Medical Jurisprudence than in anything else. He will practice in the "Longhorn" State.

DIEGO BENIGNO MARTINEZ

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

B.Sc., Tulane; Sigma Nu; Phi Chi; Olive and Blue. Although born with the proverbial silver spoon, which has gradually changed to gold, Ben, unspoiled, has made more friends than the most of us. Universal good humor, steady plugging, and a big automobile have characterized his medical studies. Already known among the laity as Dr. Martinez and frequently called into consultation by anxious mothers, prophesying a successful career is needless.

DEWITT TALMAGE MILAM

WINNFIELD, LOUISIANA

Louisiana Polytechnic; Kappa Sigma; Phi Chi; Olive and Blue.

"Buckets" has more different interests than any three men in the class. Although he has a perfect attendance record at gym dances and at Broadway Pharmacy, and has loved as numerous as leaves on a tree, yet he has found time to study more than he has ever gotten credit for. In the bigger fight to come we predict he will be successful.

HAROLD AVERY MILLER

BROOKINGS, SOUTH DAKOTA

B.S., South Dakota State College; Phi Chi; Square and Compass.

Harold is our sole representative from the Great Northwest. He is a member of that big fraternity of men who marry early. His associates know that he is one of our most conscientious and straightforward students, always cheerful, and doggedly determined to succeed. When he returns with his M.D., Tulane will have a shining light in the Dakotas.

EARNEST EARLE MOSELEY

JAKIN, GEORGIA

Tulane; Sigma Pi; Chi Zeta Chi.

"Chappie" is one of the few members of the class who have spent their pre-medical days at Tulane. He is the type of man who never lets pleasure interfere with business nor business with pleasure. His one ambition in life is "to wear one of those white suits and be on the ambulance service at the Charity Hospital," and "I betcha" he will attain it.

ITALO AMERICUS PALMIERI

NEW YORK CITY

Fordham University.

Meet our Italian Count. He smiles, and likes to say that he was born in the U. S. A. The greater part of his life has been spent in Italy, where he received his literary training. Seven years ago he returned to America, entered Fordham University and completed his pre-medical and freshman work. Palmieri's three years in Tulane have been such as to win for him the confidence and esteem of the class.

MARION LOFTON PATTON

BELLS, TENNESSEE

University of Tennessee; Medical College of Virginia; Phi Beta Pi.

Patton, who joined us in the sophomore year, has won a place in the hearts of all his classmates by his genial disposition and earnest efforts. Quiet and unassuming, he is one of those who believe that much study is a weariness of the flesh. However, his record is good, and we expect to see the death rate of Bells, Tennessee, materially lowered after this year.

ALABAMA

WILTON GRADY PITTS

HAZELHURST, MISSISSIPPI

University of Mississippi; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Alpha Kappa Kappa.

Pitts, our cosmopolitan, hails from everywhere. Few of us can boast, as he, of having as classmates many of our honored instructors. With his professional air he could easily boast of ten years' experience and "get by" with it. Reading the Parisienne Magazine and "Parlez-vousing" warrant the rumor of a pre-historic romance. Pitts will help advance the standing of the profession.

EDWARD HUNT RAY

RIDERWOOD, ALABAMA

B.S., University of Mississippi; Sigma Chi; Nu Sigma Nu; Varsity Football, '21.

"Red" came here a junior from "Ole Miss." Every inch a man, attending strictly to his own business, always prepared and ready to tackle any work always won for him the deep admiration of his fellow students. We know that Ray will tackle disease just as he did the "pigskin," and fortunate will be the community that gains him.

DAVID JENNINGS ROSE

GOLDSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

Kappa Psi; Sigma Nu; Square and Compass; Chairman Invitation Committee; President North Carolina Club.

"Dave," from the old North State, joined us last year. He at once became a success along social lines and established himself as a hard worker and student. Cheerful at all times and ever aggressive in the interest of a friend or cause, he is naturally popular and a leader. Being a combination of heart, brains and spirit, Rose is bound to succeed in Medicine.

RICHARD OLNEY RUSSELL

SOMERVILLE, ALABAMA

Auburn; Delta Sigma Phi; Chi Zeta Chi; Honor Committee, '20-21.

Olney is one that everybody knows and likes. He is one of the most determined and persistent members of the class in his work as well as in love. Should he continue his work and love affairs with the same everlasting steadfastness, we can predict but one outcome—an M.D. and M.R.S.

LANCELOT MATHEWS SANDERS

TROY, ALABAMA

University of Alabama; Pi Kappa Phi; Kappa Psi. "Lance" is one of us who has really "hit his stride" in the study of Medicine. At all times an earnest student, we now find him well prepared for his life's work. He is certain to gain renown in the future. His knowledge is applied in the most practical way, and he is ever conscientious in his duties as a minister to suffering humanity.

HERMAN SEAL

ENSLEY, ALABAMA

University of Alabama; Chi Zeta Chi.

"Heine" entered Tulane with the idea of some day becoming a regular M.D. No doubt his dream will be realized, if one judges by the worn appearance of his books and the way he answers his quizzes. He will, in the estimation of his classmates, become one of his native state's most successful practitioners.

GEORGE BYRON SETZLER

CROSSETT, ARKANSAS

B.Sc., Tulane; Sigma Pi; Alpha Kappa Kappa; Square and Compass; Basketball.

"Of manners gentle, of affections mild." Convinced that still waters run deep, Setzler makes little noise, but goes on conscientiously performing every task assigned him. A physician, possessing such rare traits of character, will be able to heal the soul as well as the body of his patients.

CHESTER OWEN SMITH

URANIA, LOUISIANA

Tulane; Phi Beta Pi; Heavyweight Wrestling Champion S. A. A. U., '16-17; 175-Pound Champion S. A. A. U., '20.

Chester's medical career was interrupted at the end of his sophomore year by the late fuss with the kaiser. After helping put "Bilhelm in Dutch," he resumed his work in the junior year. With quite a struggle, he succeeded in putting the junior work down by means of the "head lock" and "body scissors." This year he is maneuvering for a "half Nelson" on the senior course. He'll get it.

ERNEST PIERCE TERRELL

STAMPS, ARKANSAS

A.B., Arkansas College; Phi Beta Pi.

No doubt in the dim future some one will see this name deeply carved in the tablets of fame. Terrell is not a shark in any subject, but good in 'em all. He has not only found time to study the Saturday Evening Post each week, but has found time to keep up with his work as well. The doctors of Arkansas welcome him into their ranks.

WILLIAM BRUCE TALBOT

LAFAYETTE, ALABAMA

B.S., University of Alabama; Pi Kappa Phi; Kappa Psi.

Bruce, who is a two-year man, has made a very creditable showing since entering these precincts. He is a consistent worker, and is also consistent in many other things. On him who is diligent in his work and serious in his attempts Dame Fortune confers that lasting degree—Success.

JEFFERSON SHERLOCK SOUTHARD

FORT SMITH, ARKANSAS

A.B., University of Missouri; Alpha Tau Omega; Alpha Kappa Kappa; Track, '20-21.

Although not connected with Bud Fisher, "Jeff's" popularity is none the less great. With a cheerful disposition, a pleasing personality, and a long stride, he makes his way into the esteem of all. He is a convert of the Cinema, an authority on pictures, both motion and radiographic, a student, and a gentleman.

WILLIAM RUDOLPH SNEED

WORTHAM, TEXAS

B.A., Trinity University; Sigma Pi; Alpha Kappa Kappa; Square and Compass.

Sneed, just another Texan, enrolled in the junior year. On the slightest provocation, he used to keep returning home, at intervals, for a few days. A few said, "The Call of the Wild"; the majority, "The Fair One." Friendly, easy-going, conscientious and dependable, Bill has proved his high character and true worth as a man and a student.

JAMBALAYA

ERNEST WITT TOWNSEND

ARKADELPHIA, ARKANSAS

A.B., Ouachita College; Phi Kappa Sigma; Phi Beta Pi; Alpha Omega Alpha; Stars and Bars.

"Happy" hails from "God's country." He had to uphold an ancestral scholastic record which would have discouraged most of us. Only Mr. Betfield's "Bible" will show how well he has done this. Tulane can boast of few students with such a record. Congenial, full of vim, vigor and vitality, he is bound to succeed.

SAMUEL PATRICK WAINWRIGHT

ATMORE, ALABAMA

University of Alabama; Pi Kappa Phi; Kappa Psi.

Sam has a personality which not only has made him popular among all of us, but also has made quite a splash in the sea of mermaids in the smart set of this Southern metropolis. And besides, he is a walking advertisement for the "Atmore Chamber of Commerce." Some day he expects to put his feet on the topmost medical rung.

HENRY WANDERER

NEW YORK CITY

College of City of New York.

Wanderer joined us with several others from the Empire State in the junior year. The class is glad he came and is sorry to see him go. Henry has a way of his own, quiet but industrious. We hope that his success will be as high as the seat he selects in the amphitheaters.

RALPH WEILER

NEW YORK CITY

B.A., Yale; Nu Sigma Nu; Art Editor Medical Section Jambalaya, '22.

Here is a man versatile and talented—a globe trotter, an artist, a student. Medicine is the only profession broad enough to permit such a man to develop his possibilities. While here Ralph used his time well, and when he gets his M.D., Tulane will have a worthy representative in the Empire State.

JAMES EZEKIEL WHITAKER

NEW HOPE, ALABAMA

B.L., Berea College; Phi Beta Pi; Square and Compass.

"Whit" is a big-hearted chap, a deep thinker, and a hard worker. His friends like him for his genuine good nature and faithfulness. Woe unto malaria plasmodia when chased by him. He is another who believes "it is not good for man to live alone." Whit's practical knowledge will make his progress rapid in the community fortunate enough to get his services.

CHARLES TOLBERT WILKINSON

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

B.A., Wake Forest College; Chi Zeta Chi.

Charles, hailing from the old North State, entered the Junior Class. He is small of body, but big of mind and thoroughly dependable. He is the sort of person that one seeks for a friend, being open-hearted and sincere. Wilkinson is not a book worm, neither is he a loafer, but being a firm believer in the doctrine of association, he strikes a happy medium.

ROBERT WATSON WILKINSON, JR.

WAKE FOREST, NORTH CAROLINA

A.B., Wake Forest College; Chi Zeta Chi. R. W. came to Tulane along with his brother, Charles, and is easily the "Beau Brummel" of the Wake Forest gang. He is a great believer in pleasure, but he never lets pleasure interfere with business. Another of his beliefs is that there is a great advantage to a doctor in having a nurse for a "better half."

HIRAM JOSEPH WILLIAMS

CORDELE, GEORGIA

Mercer University; Kappa Alpha; Alpha Kappa Kappa. "Hike" is a man after your own heart. His medical course was interrupted by the World War, and he spent nearly two years in France. Returning, he joined our Sophomore Class, and has been one of its most dependable members. Happily married and holding an M.D. from Tulane—what more could any man desire?

EARL MATHIES WOODSON

POTEAU, OKLAHOMA

B.S., University of Oklahoma; Phi Beta Pi; Square and Compass; Acacia. "Law," not one of the old guard, came to us first in the summer of 1919 as a research worker in Embryology. Those who knew him then were mighty glad to see him back for the junior year. He is known all over school for his wonderful yarns. Oklahoma needs men of his type and success awaits him there.

WILLIAM HOBSON WOODY

WOODSDALE, NORTH CAROLINA

B.A., Wake Forest College; Phi Rho Sigma. "Jack," coming to our Junior Class from Wake Forest, has decidedly upheld the excellent record made in that institution. The "Woody smile" is known throughout the Senior Class and has made many friends. His gallantry and personal charm have given many a debutante auricular fibrillation. Such qualities as his bespeak only success in his chosen profession.

HOMER KIDD WRIGHT

OPP, ALABAMA

B.S., University of Alabama; Phi Chi. Wright is from Alabama and possesses the qualities that generally distinguish the sons of that state. He has learned that a physician should not talk too much, for "by their fruits ye shall know them." Being popular, an earnest worker, and naturally "bent" toward medicine, his success as a doctor is assured.

KATE SAVAGE ZERFOSS

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

B.S., Vanderbilt; Delta Delta Delta; Alpha Epsilon Iota; Alpha Omega Alpha; Stars and Bars; Secretary-Treasurer Class, '19; Vice-President Tulane Medical Woman's Association, '20-21. Two honorary fraternities, a husband, and the respect and esteem of students and faculty alike, are among the rewards reaped by this little lady from Tennessee. She has gone the even tenor of her way, making every one better for her association. Tulane needs more like her.

Senior Medical Class History

IN September, 1918, when the World War was raging at its height, we were organized and mustered in—the S. A. T. C. being our official designation. Martial terms filled the air and "squads, march, sergeant, flu, bugle notes, and K. P." were much better learned than Anatomy, Chemistry, and a few of the "ologies." Thus the battle of Camp Martin raged until that memorable morning of November 11.

Then "as you were" gave way to "at ease," and in a month more the S. A. T. C. was dishanded, an extra ten days' leave for Christmas was voted, and the soldier-student-civilians were hastening home to relate the horrible details.

Returning after the holidays, we found the war clouds lifted, Camp Martin history, and a year's medical work to be done by June. Suffering many casualties and greatly reduced in number, we "carried on" till the end of the year. We received some reinforcements from overseas, however, and with our ranks somewhat increased, we started work again. We mastered the intricacies of smoking drums without getting sooty ourselves and of making one hundred and twenty dots a minute with variously colored inks. This period of our existence was relatively peaceful, being only occasionally disturbed by a muscle that would not jump at the proper time, thus ruining a perfectly good tracing. Even then "Chilly" would smooth things over by saying "It can't be wrong, the muscle did it." To be sure, there were quizzes and exams, but they, like the poor, are always with us, so that by that time we had almost gotten used to them. Having been duly introduced to "digitalis," heart sounds, and the various types of breathing, we qualified to "go on" and, the foundation having been laid for the superstructure, we came "down-town."

All points of the compass contributed members to our class at the beginning of our junior year and we doubled in number. Seventy-odd strong, we began to study "real medicine." We were presented with a schedule that Poe would have rejoiced in deciphering, but which was almost too much for just a "Junior Med." Kindly seniors came to the rescue, however, and it became intelligible to us with time. After the first few days of wandering in groups through the halls of Charity Hospital, feeling much greener than when we were freshmen, and getting lost a few times, we became oriented—we even began to feel at home.

But all was not to run smoothly for us. That year we sustained a great loss. Our dearly beloved dean, Dr. Dyer, was suddenly taken from us. He was the students' friend, and it was upon him that we depended for guidance, to him we always brought our troubles, as individuals and as classes, feeling sure that, however trivial, they would always receive consideration and advice, and a solution to our problems would be secured. We felt our bereavement keenly. However, recovering from the shock which his death had given us, we discovered that he had left behind his high principles, his lofty ideals and, with the memory of him constantly with us, we are striving, as though he were still here, to live up to those principles, to attain those ideals.

Our fourth year has at last been reached, the Mecca towards which our eyes have been turned for the past few years is before us. It scarcely seems that so much time has elapsed since we started, and we are a little awed to think that we are soon to be trusted with the care of suffering humanity, that the life and death of a patient may be entirely in our hands.

Very shortly we disband, no more to answer roll calls, or sit with rapid pulse and anxious look, wondering "will I be quizzed next?" We will scatter to all parts of the United States, some of our boys will go to the old world. Some will achieve fame as surgeons, internists, diagnosticians, etc., while others may be just "country doctors." Whatever line they choose to pursue, they will do so with the same earnestness and loyalty which they have shown in the last few years, true to the spirit of our Alma Mater, thus reflecting glory upon her.

JUNIOR MEDICAL CLASS HISTORY

Of the eighty-seven members of the 1919 Freshman Medical Class, forty-seven have weathered the numerous storms of the freshman and sophomore years, and have attained the dignity of juniors.

Most of these losses took place during the first year, due largely to the inability of the freshman mind to grasp the intricate details concerning the human body, as they were unfolded to us by Dr. Hardesty, Dr. Baker, and their assistants. Yet there were some who, though successful in those departments, found the behavior of frogs and "bugs" in the laboratories of physiology and bacteriology far from being in accordance with the rules laid down for them by Dr. Garrey and Dr. Duval. So they either decided the controversy useless or, with commendable determination, are spending a year making further investigations in these departments.

While suffering these losses, we have welcomed into our midst those who have come from other schools, so that our present number is eighty-seven, exactly our original number. So large was the number of new men at the beginning of this year, that with our change from "up-town" to "down-town," we old students all but felt ourselves the strangers. Only a short time, however, was necessary for us to become acquainted and realize that our new co-workers were valuable additions to our number.

And now we are in the midst of innumerable quizzes, night calls, and the other trials and pleasures which make up the life of a junior. Yet there are times when, with eager anticipation, we look forward to the time when we shall receive our M.D.'s in recognition of our diligence, and that we may then put into actual practice the medical ideals instilled into us by our faithful and esteemed predecessors. Sophomore Medical Class History

W E started on our search over the elusive trail with brilliant colors flying high, but had not gone very far until we came to the Arch of the Aorta. Here darkness overtook us, and a large number of our party completely lost their way and of their fate we know not. Others, having had more or less experience at such gruesome maneuvers, stood still until the dawn of morning. We traveled thence upwards to the Decussation of the Pyramids, reconnoitered here for a few hours, and thence on, up, and over the vertex. The fatalities had run high over this irksome journey, and the morale of the remaining few was on the wane, but our journey was not yet ended—in fact, the exigencies of the escapade were yet ahead. We were rather poorly prepared for this journey, since the usual guide, "Buddy," was nowhere to be found. Nevertheless, we ventured upon the journey, but found that, when we had reached the jungles proper, the entire party was smothered by connective tissue, both white fibrous and yellow elastic, smooth muscle and striped muscle, tendon, and even neuroglia tissue. It seemed that our fate was doomed, as we were like the proverbial fly in the spider's web. All at once a shining candle appeared, carried by a man of small stature, quick step and with a beckoning to follow him. This man, whom we afterwards learned as Professor Cummins, guided us safely and showed us the sophomore trail and gave us instructions for the continuation of our journey. To this little man we take off our hats and shout his praises to the world.

We reached the coveted sophomore year with great mortality, but found on our arrival new recruits from all corners of the globe, and at the same time new and efficient guides. We have a large number of sojourns to make before we have finished. Already our efficient guide and Chesterfield, Dr. Garrey, has directed us through blood up to our knees, and Dr. Duval (King of Kings) has awaiting us a bed of microbes that will probably be over our heads in depth, and the chances are that some of us will lose our lives on this journey. We are looking forward to the dose of "Digitalis" all sophomores must take to slow down the heart beat, in order that they may become juniors. Our only hope is that we will not get an overdose.

Freshman Medical Class History

On September 26, 1921, eighty-four earnest members of the Class of 1925 started on the first lap of a four years' climb towards the goal of an M.D. degree. If we were not earnest when we started, we were as soon as we became acquainted with Dr. Smith.

When we looked over our members, we realized that as a class we were above the average. We kept this opinion of ourselves until we handed in our first histology note-books. Strange as it may seem, Dr. Hardesty's opinion of us did not coincide with the one we held, and in his talk to us he almost persuaded us to agree with him that our brains were frozen, and we were like bumps on a log. After being properly meek for a week or two, we rebounded to normal when Dr. Smith said in one of our weekly conferences, "Regardless of how dumb you are, you are bound to absorb a certain amount of knowledge if you attend all your classes regularly."

Our history is mostly in the making, but we have already acquired a fund of knowledge which is not provided for in the curriculum, but which may be useful. In the first place, art lessons should be included in the pre-med work. The mixing of indelible inks should be substituted for the mixing of paints. In coloring blood corpuscles, you generally get the wrong combination—however, you can always do them over.

If you cut the nerves in dissecting (you should always have your probe handy, because Dr. Smith may walk up on you while you are tracing them out with a knife), you will be two weeks ahead in your work, and you can go home and take a vacation—if there is anything left of you after Dr. Smith gets through.

The Schedule Committee thoughtlessly overlooked Sunday when they were making out the schedule, and omitted to make provision for classes on that day. However, the anatomy instructors are willing to remedy this, and unusually large assignments are made on Saturday.

In spite of our evident handicaps, we feel that we are destined to make history for our university, and we are going on our way rejoicing that we are Tulane Freshman Meds. HISTORIAN.

Senior Dental Class History

"Love hath his hidden treasure for the patient and the pure,
 And time gives his fullest measures to the workers who endure."

OUR years have elapsed since that fall morning of September, 1918, and many are the trials and tribulations we have witnessed. We entered the halls of Tulane forty-two strong, seeking to quench our thirst for knowledge. Unfortunately our country was in need of men, and we faithfully answered the call to the cause. Uncle Sam soon discovered our knowledge of military tactics; many being honored by having the responsible duties of police of the kitchen thrust upon them. Some were made rear admirals, having charge of all the vessels in the kitchen. On November 11, 1918, the kaiser having heard of our military progress, immediately negotiated for peace.

After having forced the kaiser to sue for peace, we reorganized and settled down to real work. We met and conquered our deadliest foe, Anatomy. To quote the great Caesar, "Veni, Vidi, Vici." As "Daddy" Metz' chappies, the theory of chemicals was expounded to such magnitudes that the most mediocre could understand. We learned Chemistry from "cover to cover, inside out, outside in, down side up, and upside down."

At the beginning of the second year many were numbered among the missing, the weak having fallen by the wayside. Those of us who returned resumed our work with such energy and zeal that at the end of the year we all came through with colors flying.

In the fall we returned as dignified juniors. After two years of toil and drudgery, we were ready to begin practical dentistry and be called "doctors." As diagnosticians and operators of dental diseases of the oral cavity, we were unsurpassed; being constantly called upon by our instructors to demonstrate on difficult cases, which presented themselves daily at the clinic.

Now as we enter the last lap of the final year we number twenty-five, all tried and proven, all woven into the whole. We have faced our problems and solved them, we have met our obstacles and overcome them, and the goal is nigh at hand. We are soon to achieve the crowning glory of our college career, and as each one receives his diploma and leaves his Alma Mater, starting the ascent to life's summit with hope ever weaving her robes in the blue web of the future, may we ever be thankful to those noble, self-sacrificing fathers, brothers and professors whose loyal devotion and intelligent instruction guided our youthful minds in the search for knowledge, and were ever solicitous of our moral welfare. May our truest and sincerest affections for one another and our Alma Mater ever flow to an inseparable union, for "To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die."

"Life, in swiftly fleeting,
 Tells again no meeting
 Of the ones we love.

Parting leaves us groping
 In doubt, but still hoping
 We may meet above."

WALTER H. RATLIFF

SLAUGHTER, LOUISIANA

Psi Omega; Class President, '21-22; Class Vice-President, '20-21; Class President, '18-19; Chairman Honor Committee; Baseball and Basketball.

"Genteel in personage, conduct and equipage."

"Rat" hails from Slaughter, La., and oh! how he slaughters the women—the heartless wretch. With his clever ways and "blue" melodies, "Rat" has spread sunshine around us for four years. With his magnetic personality we know that he will have many fair patients when he hangs out his shingle in the near future.

ROLAND C. STEIB

VACHERIE, LOUISIANA

Vice-President Class, '21-22; Track, '20-21; Football, '19-20.

"Steadfast was his friendship, his word as true as gold."

Steib—there is only one like him—is truly a student of whom any class could feel proud. Roland is a man of many honors but few words, letting his deeds speak for themselves. The goal he is about to reach is a fitting reward for his faithful work.

IRWIN ISAACSON

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Secretary-Treasurer Class, '21-22; Assistant Business Manager Jambalaya, '22; Historian, Class '19; Tulane-Pep Club, '21-22.

"For him, there was nothing too great or too small."

"Ike," the little boy scout, has taken care of our finances for four years, and we have never lost a penny—that we know of. He walks the floor all day, reciting "Hail Mary's" from Blair's Surgery, Black's Operative and Smith's Anesthesia. Irwin of 100 per cent class spirit expects to far eclipse his brother Tulane graduates in fame and fortune.

JOSEPH JOHN GRANATA

BERWICK, LOUISIANA

Class Historian, '21-22.

"O winning way, a pleasant smile."

Joe, the historian and artist, came to us from Berwick, and has been with us four years. He has inspired his fellow students to greater things. Realizing the evil of the tobacco habit, he has helped his classmates by confiscating their cigarettes. Joe is an all-around dentist, and we feel that he will do credit to the Class of '22.

FRANK MARION ANASTASIO

NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT

"Thine the chivalric obeisance, the courteous grace of the Norman."

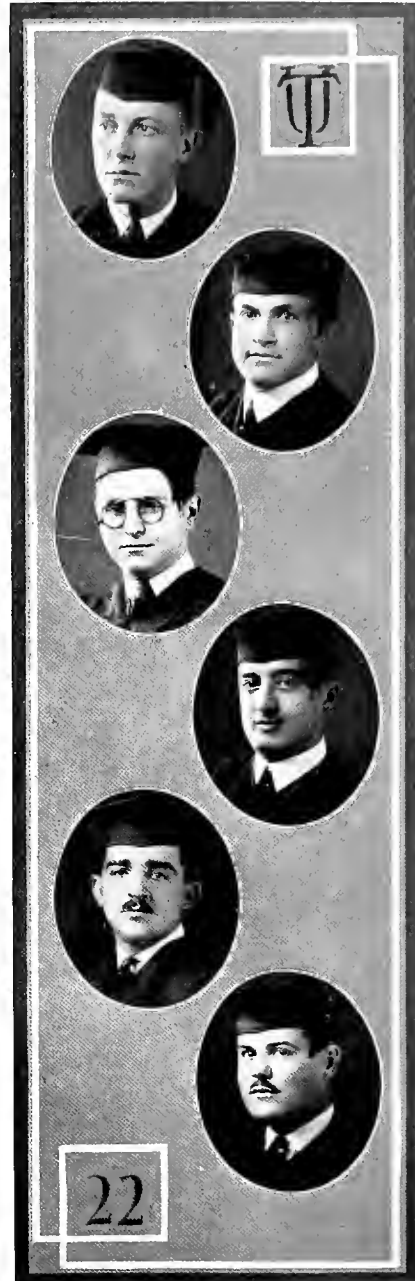

The "Count" or "Little Caruso" blew down from the New England states, much to the expense of whoever writes those three letters a day. By his pleasing personality, Anastasio has infiltrated himself into the hearts of us all. We hope he goes back to "Old New England" and remembers well his "wintering" here.

SENAC WILLIAM BARKMEYER

ALEXANDRIA, LOUISIANA

"A Study in Brown forsooth."

"Bark" has been with us our entire four years, and it is not his fault if all of us have not had a black eye during that time, for next to making false teeth and showing us how they stand up, dishing out black eyes is his specialty. At shadow stepping he is almost as good as at impression taking. "Bark" will get there, don't worry.

ARTHUR L. BRADEN

ENID, OKLAHOMA

"Why speak of love when there is so much work to be done?"

Arthur joined us three years ago, coming from Oklahoma. He suffers slightly from dropsy, having been known to drop everything from a set-up "three point" to a saddle impression—guaranteeing to step on same and same still fit. Arthur is a steady worker all the same. "Repeated efforts make efficiency."

EDWARD JOSEPH BROWN

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Delta Sigma Delta; Delta Sigma Phi; Manager Baseball Team, '19; Captain Dental Football Team, '20; Honor Committee, '20-21.

"To have friends is to be one."

"Eddie," the walking style model, is one of the outstanding features of the Senior Class. Although he uses cave man tactics, all the girls seem to fall for him. Eddie is hard to start, but once going, his in-lays are to Dentistry what the Brooklyn Bridge is to New York. Eddie, may your patients be as many as your friends in college days.

WILLIAM JOSEPH BUYATT

BAYONNE, NEW JERSEY

Delta Sigma Delta.

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined."

We needed a red-head at Tulane, so fate took little William away from Georgetown and sent him to us. Why he isn't a million-dollar photo comedy feature is beyond our conception. W. J. stands for Witty and Jovial, and as a D.D.S. he should always "send them away with a smile."

WILLIAM McMASTER DIXON

COLUMBUS, OHIO

Sigma Pi; Psi Omega.

"Where the stream runneth slowest, the water is deepest."

"Bill," the man who sees it all, both in and out, joined our class in the sophomore year. A man of few words, he has been a high-grade student throughout his course. Here's drinking to your success, Bill—may your future career be as great as your record in college.

CARL TECK DREIFUS

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA

Phi Epsilon Pi; Baseball, '22; Tulane Dental Club.

"The height by great men reached—by toiling upward in the night."

The athletic prowess which had made Dreifus famous at Alexandria was denied him at Tulane because of strict eligibility rules. He has a mania for growing mustaches, which are always nipped in the incipient stage. Although a good student, Carl still finds time to mingle in society and on the waxed floor he "trips the light fantastic toe."

FRANCIS MATTHEW FIFER

BAYONNE, NEW JERSEY

Delta Sigma Delta.

"The parting year leaves you the boy you were when it began."

With the advent of prohibition, Fifer left the old homestead to take up the explorer and the blow pipe. After spending three years in Georgetown, he enrolled in old Tulane and his every effort has been directed towards uplifting her standard. On leaving our midst, we know that his work will reflect credit on the good name of Tulane Dental.

"I have lived to know that the secret of happiness is never to allow your energies to stagnate."

Fontane, "M. F.," Money first, or you don't get any supplies—not even a towel, calls the roll, rings the bell, and raises the mischief if you're late. Miss Fontane, queen of the Senior Class, surely can swing a wicked wand when it comes to being Assistant Secretary of the Dental Department.

EUTQUIO E. GARCIA

TALFURRIAS, TEXAS

Psi Omega; Class Secretary-Treasurer, '19-20; Class Baseball and Basketball; Varsity Football, '21; Honor Committee, '20-21; Welterweight Champion, '19.

"This is a man. Take him for all in all; we shall not look upon his like again."

"Tico," oh, how soft those little Newcombites breathe that name. He leaves us after four short years of Muchachas buenas and football. "Tico" is known far and near, for he has "spread his stuff."

FRANCIS LEO GOLDEN

JERSEY CITY, NEW JERSEY

Delta Sigma Delta; Tulane Dental Club, '21-22; Baseball, '22.

"The master of the poem and the song."

"Golden"—No, he neither has red hair, nor is he of the same faith as our class secretary. His work along dental lines is as perfect as are his great literary productions. The sociability, friendliness, and good work of Golden will some day cause him to reach the highest step of the ladder, Success.

SAMUEL DAVIS GORE

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Sigma Pi; Psi Omega; Vice-President Class, '18-19; Class President, '19-20; Assistant Biology, '19-20-21; Assistant Editor Jambalaya, '22.

"Knowledge in truth is the great sun of the firmament."

"S. D." stands for many things. The girls say Sweetie Dear, registration says Senior Dental, and we all say Some Dentist. And to think that he is to specialize in Orthodontia—well, "just another good man gone wrong." Some day, you will read about this young man in Scientific Dental Research.

HERBERT TAYLOR HUGULEY

DALLAS, TEXAS

Pi Phi Chi; Psi Omega.

"To know him is to know a man."

"Broncho Buster," another "blow in" this year, hails from Denver. "Piggly-Wiggly" decided to winter in the South while studying Dentistry. Speaking of ranches, there's only one other Dent that has a bigger one—a mere junior, "Bo Weevil" Harris. Dr. Hug intends to set up in Dallas. We wish him the best o' luck.

ALBERT MARSHALL LA FLEUR, JR.

VILLE PLATTE, LOUISIANA

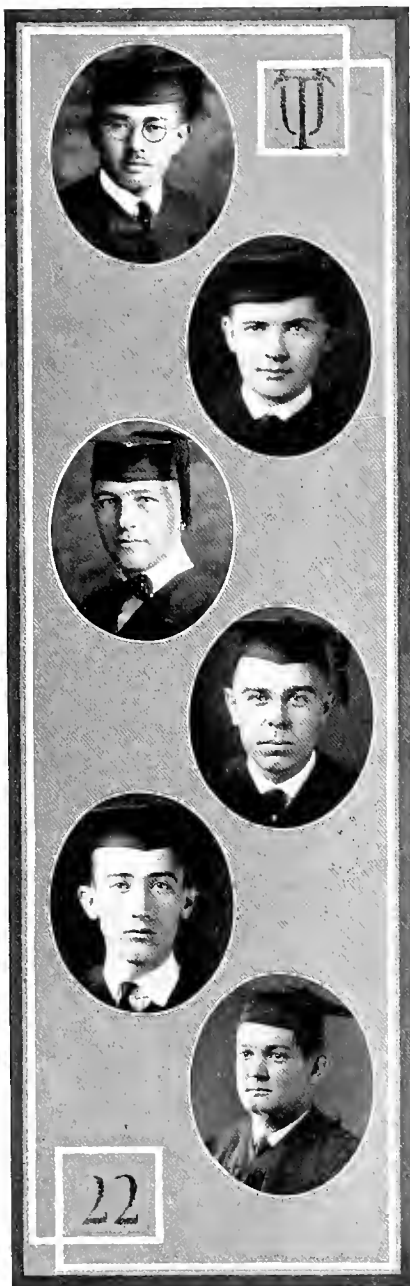

Psi Omega; Vice-President Class, '19-20; Class President, '20-21; President Tulane Dental Body, '20-21; President Tulane Dental Club.

"Three-fifths of him genius, and two-fifths sheer fudge."

"Frenchy," the bully of the Senior Class, gets sore pretty quickly, but cools down just as fast. As he ruled the class in his junior year, so will he rule that great metropolis of the South—Ville Platte—both in dental and other lines.

JAMBATAWAY

NAPOLEON SHIZUKA NAKAMURA

HONOLULU, HAWAII

Wrestling.

"Few things are impossible to diligence and skill."

"Knock 'em over" is a Jap (not a Chinese), a loyal American from the balmy land of Hawaii. He is one of our best technicians—truly a wonder—in the working of gold. Some day in the future some Honolulu should show some beautiful esthetic restorations. When crossing the briny deep, Neck, always remember that there are twenty-four students who think well of you.

JAMES ANTHONY REDDEN

SPRINGFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

Delta Sigma Delta.

"Whose nature is so far from doing harm that he suspects none."

Redden, a member of the Georgetown contingent, joined our ranks last September. We found Jimmy to be a real nice boy, though he does have an idiosyncrasy for "galloping dominoes." His infirmity work, which is his specialty, has earned for him the sobriquet of "Synthetic Redden."

WILLIAM BURNLEY RUSHING

MOUNT MEIGS, ALABAMA

"Energy and persistence conquer all things."

A reticent, retiring youth is Rushing, who allied himself with us in his senior year. Being an ex-dentist of no mean ability, this Alabaman youth is sure to earn for himself a niche in the extraction hall of fame. As dancing instructor on the Algiers ferry boats, Rushing made a host of friends, who all unite in expressing their good will for a life of health and dental prosperity.

JOHN SEWARD TAYLOR

WAYCROFT, GEORGIA

Xi Psi Phi; Square and Compass.

"I will be sober. Not because I must, but because I love sobriety."

Taylor is another newcomer, joining us in our senior year. He is a man of few words, but one in whom all can place implicit faith. His work in the infirmary and his attitude toward his fellow students will always stand to his credit. Taylor, through thick and thin, the Class of '22 is behind you.

JOHN MAPLES THOMPSON, JR.

BROKEN BOW, OKLAHOMA

Psi Omega; Square and Compass.

"Describe him who can, an abridgment of all that was pleasant in man."

Thompson is the only shipment received for our class this year from Baylor. Dick is a bridge worker of renowned eminence. His Carmichaels are to bridges what bread is to life. He is true, loyal and a good scout. In the future, may he be honored and respected as in 1922.

JOSEPH PAUL YATES

PHILADELPHIA, MISSISSIPPI

Xi Psi Phi; Varsity Band; Glee Club.

"For e'en though vanquished he could argue still."

Yates is the mocking bird of the Senior Class. The notes from his powerful horn urged the Tulane Greenbacks to victory many times. He is not much of a jelly bean, but you should see him with a pair of forceps. May your success be long and your life bright.

The Farewell of the Class of 1922

"Good-night, Good-night! Parting is such sweet sorrow
That I shall say—good-night till it be morrow."

VERY aptly has Shakespeare termed parting as "such sweet sorrow," and though the Bard of Avon may have been describing a Tulane undergraduate bidding some fair Newcombite "good-night" after a frat dance, still we feel that parting does produce sorrow in our breasts. Sweet, because graduation witnesses the culmination of our ambitions; sorrowful, because we are leaving behind us the teachers, the classmates, the friends of four years of close association.

Four years ago we of the Class of 1922 sought admission at the gates of Tulane and were received. Fully aware of the work and responsibilities falling on our shoulders as students in "The Art Inclusive of Arts," we quickly took up our new tasks and assignments and strove ever to discharge our duties faithfully so as to maintain the high standards of Tulane University Dental School.

Whether in the class room poring over Anatomy, Physiology and Pathology; whether on the infirmary floor toiling away at our cavity preparations, or in the "lab" contouring our crowns and setting up teeth, our every effort has been directed towards fulfilling the confidence and trust reposed in us by our instructors.

That these seeds of knowledge have not fallen on barren ground, we know, and it would be an act of basest ingratitude were we to leave Tulane and not extend our sincerest thanks to the members of the Dental Faculty, who have labored long and earnestly that we might pass out from these portals, fully instructed to cope with the work of the future.

To Dr. Wallace Wood, our beloved dean, the class wishes to extend their heartiest gratitude for all that he has done for them. No request was too small, no favor too great. Dr. Wood has always endeavored to aid us and to smooth our way along the road to dental education; he has provided us with a faculty of dental teachers whose ability and methods of expression are unequaled. His counsel and guidance have earned for him the good will and unswerving loyalty of the Class of 1922. May his years be crowned with health and prosperity to continue the good work he has begun.

Dr. Alfred A. Leefe, superintendent of the clinic, is another who has endeared himself to the class. As the instructor in Dental Pathology, Dr. Leefe has toiled far into the night, that his lectures might bring to us the most authentic information on the subject. His methods of discourse are original, his mode of expression grips his hearers and commands the utmost attention. When the cares of the day are laid aside, Dr. Leefe never forgets that he was once a student and he finds time to mingle with the boys and share all their diversions.

To Dr. Edward Ducasse, our professor in crown and bridge and ceramics, and to his associate, Dr. Meynier, we are indebted for their teachings and labors in our behalf. The field of crown and bridge and prosthodontia is a large one. Its scope is extensive and yet we feel that its precepts, its laws have been driven home to us with telling force.

Dr. Augustin Magruder, instructor in Dental Surgery; Dr. Ansel Caine, in charge of Nitrous Oxide Anesthesia; Dr. John Smyth, Professor of Oral Surgery; Dr. Irving Hardesty, who presides over the Chair in Anatomy—all these men have written their names indelibly on the memory of the Class of 1922.

Dr. Felix Isaacson, whose course in Oral Hygiene has been above par, and Dr. George B. Crozat, instructor in Orthodontia, also deserve our well wishes.

Their payment comes not in a monetary sense, but rather in a humanitarian expression. Theirs is a divine task and their reward lies in the knowledge that they are aiding mankind in combating the perils that beset him.

And thus we come to say good-bye. A panorama of the four greatest years of a man's life stretches behind us—of intellectual or physical triumphs; of dental achievements; of incidents in the class room and the "lab"; of loved and laughed-at classmates; of scholarly professors, kind and brotherly; of frat dances, class banquets, smokers, athletic contests, music, perfume, dreamy waltzes and laughing eyes; of our first prophylaxis; of our hours in the chapel, of Bible study, the library—and at last of flowing black gowns, academic caps—and graduation.

Let us pause a moment and drink in deeply with one last breath, the magic atmosphere of it all—before we go down into the Valley. All the success that may come to us in material things, all the happiness that may be ours in the moral order, all the good things that life may hold in store for us must in the end give place to the halcyon days at college. And though we may pass through many phases of life, yet these memories will cling ever green as the ivy on our Alma Mater's walls.

All hail to thee, Tulane. May we, whether in the field of Exodontia, Orthodontia, Prosthodontia, or what not, may we be worthy sons—and now vale.

"Farewell—a word that must be and hath been—
A sound that makes us linger—yet, farewell."

Junior Dental Class History

It is a pleasure indeed to the Historian to glance back over the trials and triumphs of his classmates, and as memories come to his mind he is very sorry not to have space enough to list each and every one.

Sometimes it seems very difficult, yet so simple, to grasp the technique which is offered by the dental profession. And sometimes it is very hard to realize that, in spite of prohibition, we will be admitted to the Senior Class. On the other hand, it is our duty to forget it and be serious, to look into the future, to prepare ourselves to fill properly the high seats that are due us in the Hall of Fame. And after we have scattered to the different parts of the country, Tulane University will look back with pride to the Juniors of 1922.

With honor and courage we face each day's problems, and to our professors and instructors we offer our heartfelt thanks, as their presence has been a source of ever-increasing joy and inspiration.

Our class has added to its history the events of another year, a year of which we are proud. From the very first day we entered Tulane we have shown that we were here for business. Out of the original thirty-eight members of last year's class, all have returned with the exception of only five. That, in itself, is sufficient evidence of our claim to the title of "workers." We can look back over our work as freshmen with a somewhat boastful attitude. Did not we meet that ancient foe, Anatomy? And did not we conquer and subdue him? Who then shall question our ability to advise the meek and lowly freshman?

We were unfortunate in the beginning of this year in that our last year's president, who was re-elected, has been unable to be with us, due to the fact that sickness of a loved one back home prevents his returning. We can only hope that he will later be able to return, for no one was better liked than Pigott. Of the others missing, Gleason is in school at Northwestern University, Chiles and Lamar in the University of Tennessee, and LeBourgeois in the University of California. As much as we miss them, their places are well filled by five new faces, Rushing, Robinson, Russell, Hollers and Montier.

All in all, we are a banner class, with both necessary requisites, quality and quantity. As Bacteriologists we acknowledge no equal. In Physiology we reign supreme, while as Technicians, our motto, "Conscientious," speaks for us. We are going to be juniors next year and seniors the following one, and then, "Get out you old-fashioned tooth carpenters. Make way for the Doctors of Dental Surgery from old Tulane."

Freshman Dental Class History

Since last September our class has endeavored to be a well-behaved and studious body. We have tried to give honor to ourselves, pleasure to our parents, and satisfaction to our teachers.

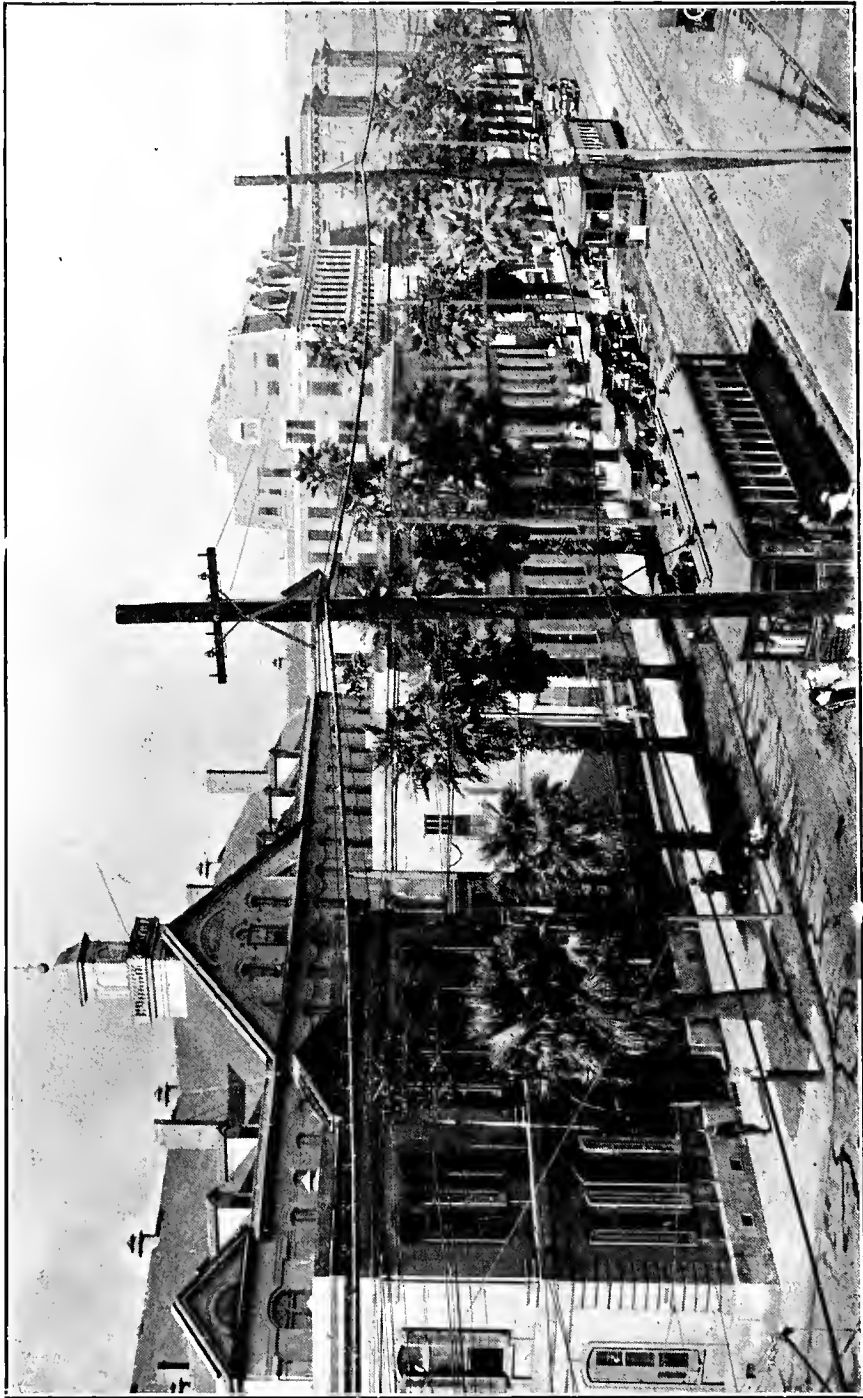

Our class has outnumbered any Freshman Dental Class Tulane ever had. The quantity is there, and so, very much so, is the quality.

Nothing has yet happened to the class to give its historian much matter, save to record the death knell of Canal Street, which we heard the day the schedule for Gross Anatomy was posted.

Class History

HE Historian is awarded the task of recalling the trials as well as the triumphs of the Class of 1922.

During September, 1920, had you been present, you would have seen twenty and five would-be "Knights of the Mortar and Pestle" who had flocked to the doors of Tulane, little realizing the number of hardships to be encountered before June, 1922. How many of us wondered how we could make our strength count most in this world of effort before choosing Pharmacy as a profession? Surely we should not work for mere selfish gain; not for money, for the mere sake of money, nor fame for the mere sake of fame; but for the sake of usefulness in this world, for the sake of helpfulness to those we love and all humanity.

We have now completed the amount of work required to obtain our degree. To those who have completed this, and attained more, it seems very small, but to us who have just completed it, it seems rather a large accomplishment. We look upon it with pride, for every one beholds his completed work, no matter how small, with some degree of satisfaction. We have worked hard during the past two years. Every subject required a certain amount of concentrated effort for its understanding, but our concentration had its reward, the Ph.G.

Every one has been surprised at how much he can do and how well he can do it when he has to. To do your best work you must have faith in yourself and love your work. Often have we been discouraged, but just a word from our beloved Chairman of the Faculty of Pharmacy, and then we were ready and willing to do our best. With his ever-helping hand we have faced our problems and solved them. May all of his classes love, honor and respect him as does the Class of 1922.

The foundation was well laid in our junior year for the greater things to be accomplished during our senior year. In these two years we learned many lessons. Most of these were not in text-books, but often you have heard it said, "Experience is the best teacher."

In September, 1920, we numbered twenty and five. Some failed to return, but we had some new members to fill in the vacancies. We come from three states—Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. We live comparatively close to each other, but after parting here our paths in life may never cross again. May we often return to old Tulane, in spirit if not in body, and may our fondest memories be those of the days we spent in old T. U. with the Class of '22.

HISTORIAN.

Senior Pharmacy Class

RUDOLPH EDWARD ALEXANDER FLASDICK MADISONVILLE, LOUISIANA

Beta Phi Sigma; Class President, '21-22.

Here is the kind of man that will keep you guessing unless you know him as he really is, and do not judge him by his looks. Easily mistaken for a judge or deacon, he is just a regular fellow in every way. Flasdick, having very little to say for himself, is an easy-going man who loves his work as well as play.

EARL JOHN ROLLING HAMMOND, LOUISIANA

Beta Phi Sigma; Vice-President Class, '21-22.

It is impossible to find a man in the class who takes more interest in his work than Rolling. He makes work a pleasure and helps the rest of us to do the same. He is a man of more than one idea, and we expect to hear from him in the future. On those who are diligent in their work and serious in their attempts, Dame Fortune confers that lasting degree, Success.

AMY NITA HARRIS GRAND CANE, LOUISIANA

Secretary-Treasurer Class, '21-22; Vice-President Student Body Council; Secretary of Professional and Scientific Women's Organization.

Miss Harris is the kind of student who succeeds at anything she attempts because she puts her whole soul into her work. Wherever Nita locates, she will surely have happiness, for she carries that with her.

ELLA NITA McMICHAEL GRAND CANE, LOUISIANA

Class Historian, '21-22; Professional and Scientific Women's Organization.

Here we have one of the jolly feminine members of the class. You will always find Nita in a good humor, and always smiling. Her lovely disposition has won the friendship of many. All Nita has to do in order to be sure of success is to continue traveling at her present gait.

SYDNEY JOHNSON BESTHOFF, JR. NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

Zeta Beta Tau; Tulane Club, '19-20-21.

Besthoff has some advantage over most of us by attending school in the old home town. While neither a wizard nor a shark in class, he works with a vim at all times, and is just the kind of man the professors call a "good student." He accomplishes much in both student and social activities.

Senior Pharmacy Class

ALBERT C. BURNETT, JR.

PICAYUNE, MISSISSIPPI

Beta Phi Sigma; Sigma Pi; Class Honor Council, '21-22.

Although Burnett is the smallest man in the class by several inches, he is one of the largest in the class room. Burnett came to us after a year's absence, and we can truthfully say that there is no harder worker in the class than he. Fortunate indeed will be the community which secures the services of this pharmacist.

JAMES EDWIN CRANE

FRANKLIN, TEXAS

Crane came back to Tulane after several years' absence. He is a quiet but well-informed student. He is ready for work when it is to be done, and is equally prepared for pleasure at a moment's notice. James is always in a good humor and is a friend to all. We predict for this Texan success in his chosen profession.

ALFREDO ENRIQUEZ

Assistant Business Manager Jambalaya, '22.

Alfredo is a man of very few words, and hardly, if ever, expresses his opinion on any subject. He is a hard worker, but is never too busy with his own affairs to help his less fortunate friends. His perseverance and dignity have won the confidence and esteem of all.

JOHN GEORGE HADDAD

Beta Phi Sigma; Honor Council.

John came to us a little late in the season, but has proved that he came back ready for work. Sickness kept him out several weeks, but he came back in full force and overcame the handicap in a short time. Haddad is a Mississippi lad, full of life and overflowing with smiles.

MARION TAYLOR HIGHTOWER

HENDERSON, TEXAS

Beta Phi Sigma; Class Honor Council, '21-22.

"Teaberry" is one of our acquisitions from the "Lone Star State." If you didn't know him, you might think that he is a pessimist, which would be an entirely false impression. He has been known to attend classes but has never let this become a habit, nor has he permitted it to interfere with the serious things of life.

JAMBALAYA

Senior Pharmacy Class

PERCY DELOS LIDDELL

FAYETTE, MISSISSIPPI

LL.B., University of Mississippi; Beta Phi Sigma; Kappa Alpha; Class President, '20-21; Class Honor Council, '21-22.

"Little Willie" hails from Mississippi. He is very original, and we expect some day to hear of some elixir of life that he has discovered. He pulled away from the unbroken ranks of the less fortunate and took advantage of that Oslerism, "marry early." After settling the major portion of his affections on one, he is still big enough to be a friend to every member of the class.

MERVIN GERSON MORAIS

Zeta Beta Tau; Tulane Club, '21.

Mervin is one of our well-posted men. He almost always has a good argument for his case, but if he hasn't, he says nothing. He is always ready to do a good turn to his fellow classmen, when it is in his power to do so. Mervin is a steady worker, and this trait will carry him a long way toward success.

SHERMAN PROBY NOBLE

Beta Phi Sigma; Sigma Pi; Assistant Editor Jambalaya, '21; President Student Body, '21-22; Honor Council, '21-22.

Sherman believes in the old adage, "Let the man, who does not wish to be idle, fall in love." Some call him the ladies' man, but there seems to be some one back in Mississippi who interests him very much. He is an all-round man, one of our best. Sherman looks on the bright side of things and helps the world to do the same.

WILBURN HUNNICUTT OLIPHANT

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI

Kappa Sigma.

Oliphant joined us in the last lap, so we have not had the pleasure of knowing him as intimately as we would have liked. The little we know, however, is all good. He came to us from "Ole Miss"—her loss is Tulane's gain. Oliphant has apparently had no difficulty in adjusting himself to his new surroundings.

CARMELITE PASSAFUME

Professional and Scientific Women's Organization.

Miss Passafume has the unquestionable advantage of going to school in her home town. We can't say that this has anything to do with her work, for we sincerely believe that she could make good under any circumstances. She is one of our best students, and the natural liking which she has for her work will be of special benefit to her later.

Senior Pharmacy Class

CLARENCE WADDELL PERKINS, JR.

Assistant Editor Jambalaya, '22; Vice-President Class, '20-21.

Perkins, a man of experience in all lines, is still seeking knowledge. He would be a desirable addition to any class. He is a man of few words, and pays strict attention to his work. These characteristics will stand him in stead in the future in the compounding of drugs. Earnest efforts will be rewarded.

LESTER RALPH SAIIEWITZ
TALLULAH, LOUISIANA

Sigma Alpha Mu; Secretary-Treasurer Pharmacy Student Body.

Here is the man that never worries. Saiewitz takes care of today, hoping that tomorrow will take care of itself. He will work when it is absolutely necessary, but he doesn't make work a pastime or pleasure. Lester is never too busy to neglect his play. He gained the title of "professor" early in his career.

FRANCES ROGANA STEPHENS
COVINGTON, LOUISIANA

Professional and Scientific Women's Organization; Secretary-Treasurer Class, '20-21.

Frances is one of our valued acquisitions from the southern parishes. She has the rarest of good qualities—modesty, and her guiding principle is to avoid being conspicuous in any way. Her good nature and natural ability spell for her, Success.

VICTOR WILSON WEBB
NOXAPATER, MISSISSIPPI

Beta Phi Sigma; Square and Compass.

"Vic," who hails from Mississippi, is quite a favorite among the ladies. He never worries about anything, or lets anything worry him. When questioned about his future, he doesn't know when or where he is going. Slow in action and words, "Vic" has the endurance that will count in the long run.

Pharmaceutical Chemist Class

JOHN BRIDGES BREAZALE
MERIDIAN, MISSISSIPPI

Ph.G., Tulane; Beta Phi Sigma; Assistant Editor Jambalaya, '21; Class Historian.

"Sweet Patootie" graduated from Tulane in 1921 and from Bellevue Sanatorium the following summer. It is said that a bottle of his home brew blew up and shell shocked him. He loves his pipe and poetry and is a good student, if he does hail from Mississippi.

WILLIAM A. NAIL
FORREST CITY, ARKANSAS

Ph.G., Tulane; Beta Phi Sigma; Secretary-Treasurer Class, '21-22; Varsity Baseball.

"Tack" graduated from Tulane in '20, and after spending a year in Arkansas returned this year for his Ph.C. degree. Popular with the ladies and with his classmates, he has made a merry holiday of his college years. His brain and muscles have enabled him to be successful in all that he has undertaken, from Chemistry and baseball to wiggling his ears.

Class History

HIS cosmopolitan class, coming from the seven seas, gathered at the entrance of the Chemistry Building of Tulane University in the fall of 1921. It was a bright autumn morning, the birds flew here and there in the beautiful trees that make Tulane campus a picturesque sight to behold as the sun casts its beaming rays of color through the fast fading green leaves.

In each one's bosom that beautiful morning was the ambitious desire to get into his work and shoulder the tasks that would be put before him. Each eager and looking forward to the time when the faculty would say, "Well done, thou good and faithful student, thou hast the knowledge of the Science of Pharmacy; go ye into all the world and declare yourself the master of a profession, the Science and Art of Pharmacy."

Never before in the history of Tulane was there as large a class as we had this year. We numbered in the beginning forty-four; since then we have lost only four of our men for various reasons.

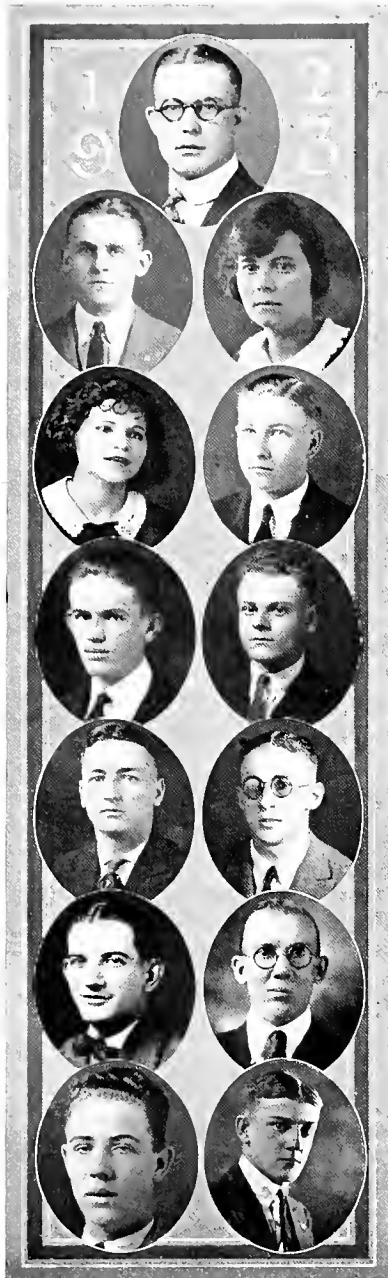

Our class is composed of men who are loyal to their college and ready to support it even against odds, and this has been one of the leading factors in upholding Tulane spirit and pep.

Our college days will be days that shall be remembered in years to come. We have one more year at old Tulane, and we shall be sorry when the day comes for us to bid farewell to our classmates and friends. But ever in our hearts shall be the sweet memories of our Alma Mater.

We are proud of the Class of 1923, and are forever ready to uphold its honor, but never shall we make the mistake of placing class spirit before Tulane spirit. We are all here as a part of Tulane, and in the future as Pharmacists, we hope to be a source of great pride to our university.

FRATERNOLGY

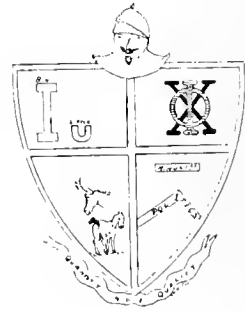

Phi Beta Pi

Of all the small-town, puffed-up, over-rated aggregations, we submit this gang of farmers for the blue ribbon. This fraternity, if we may be allowed to use the word in its larger sense, depends for its fame on the continued existence of "Happy" Townsend and "Alopecia" Whit, who have won more or less notoriety through posing as bones for the osteology department. This might be to their credit, for, as Solomon once said to his mule: "It is better to be known as an ass than never be known at all." With the passage of these men, we expect this group to do even as the Arabs and slip gloomily into the night unregretted and unsung.

Phi Chi

This lodge, consisting of about one-half of the available student body, regardless of merit, have for their shining lights such men (?) as Charlie Abbot, "Rooster" Cato, and "Sweet Edley." With this blighting curse we should pass on were it not for their unlimited egotism, which must be appeased. It has, or does, harbor many prize mules within its folds, but the greatest of these for all time is "Jelly Bean" Souchon, who holds the blue ribbon among the ten-carat handicap. To the glory of the university be it said that the number of the pledges decreased considerably this year, due to the higher mental character of this year's freshmen.

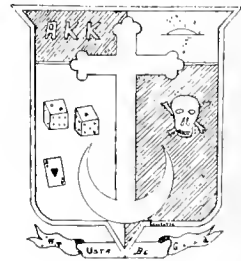

Nu Sigma Nu

Even as Atlas supported the ancient world on his shoulders, so have their alumni nurtured and reared this gang of tea hounds. It is kept alive by these and is protected by the Fourteenth Amendment, but outside of these influences, it is immaterial, irrelevant, and nonessential. No reason can be assigned for its origin nor for its continued existence except the fact that the Social Committee needed some place to hide Byrom and Mac. Aside from this charitable function, this fraternity has been about as useful as the proverbial side saddle on a hog.

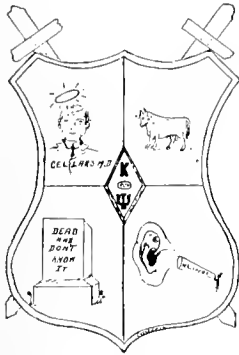

Alpha Kappa Kappa

Once the Betelguise of the Grecian sky, but now almost invisible with the K. A. telescope. Never within the memory of man has this collection shown itself to be useful or ornamental, and we heartily agree with the doctor who said that all unnecessary adjuncts ought to be chloroformed. The poor boys are having a time trying to live down "Pretty Boy" Knolle and "Snake-Eyed" Evans, and unless some eradicator is quickly used, we see only stormy weather ahead. However, the fact that Ed Haller and "I'm It" Southard are soon leaving, gives a somewhat brighter outlook to their otherwise black future.

JAMBATAVA

Kappa Psi

This was once a self-respecting organization, but the coming of one Rose and his thorns would have pulled a much worthier clan into the mire. Though in reality too near extinct to be revived, the whispering brethren made one death struggle this year and managed to rope in a few pledges (who should have known better), who in conjunction with the bunch of old men have managed to sink their standing even lower. The passing of a few of their pre-war fossils may aid their cause, but even then the prognosis of their case is extremely grave. May their souls rest in peace!

Phi Rho Sigma

This flock strayed from the fold shortly after their advent (even then they were not classed among the real fraternities) and have never been heard of since. When last seen this branch of Coxes' army was headed toward Bayou La Fourche, and are probably mired in the swamps ere now. Due to their inferior quality they need have no fear of being molested by carnivorous beasts or birds of prey. We understand that Dirmann was left behind as a rear guard, and congratulate the lodge on its selection, as he is true to his faith and remains in his place.

Chi Zeta Chi

Somewhat less harmless than the malaria mosquito, but several times more wearisome, this club was once summoned before the Humane Society for allowing "Chappy" Moseley at large and for treating one Seal as though he were human. Through the quilling of their one bright star, Bell, their scholastic standing has been considerably improved. But better had it been, had the spotlight of fame never blinded their eyes, for said spotlights bring out all the defects, and that is about all there is left.

Alpha Epsilon Iota

Although we are considering fraternities, some mention of this gang of outsiders will be made. It is supposedly a legal organization, and that accounts for its continued existence, since the unnecessary, as well as the superfluous, are nourished by the all-sufficient law. This benevolent society is prominent chiefly because it has demonstrated impressively what marvels skirts plus the various emblems of its seal can produce in the form of grades. As scientists have failed to find any reason for its continued existence, it is thought that natural selection will cause its demise.

"I Am the Doctor"

AM the custodian of health, that condition of mind and body essential to the adequate enjoyment of all life's blessings, of the food supplied by the farmer, the reading matter provided by the editor.

"I am the only servant of society who is expected to adhere to the twenty-four hour work day and the seven-day work week. I am understood to be ready to answer all calls, regardless of hour or weather.

"I am the first to be summoned in serious illness or accident, and the last to be remunerated for my service.

"In war I am able to forestall the appalling loss of men from disease, much more decimating to armies than shot and shell. In peace I am still on military duty, although no politician suggests a bonus or advocates a pension.

"Each day upon the firing line of my profession I have coughed into my face the deadly germs of 'flu,' pneumonia and tuberculosis.

"I am with you in the hour of nativity; I minister to the ailments of your infancy and childhood; and, when the final battle with death has been lost, I am found at your bedside as you 'put out to sea.'

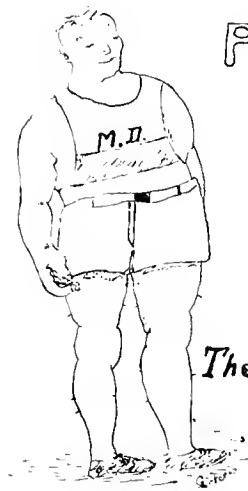

"I am an insignificant unit in the puny army that is called upon to police the world of disease. Yet I am expected to appear in the sick room with the smile and the message of gladness and good cheer.

"My competitors are as the sands of the sea. The patent medicine man has a ready-to-take remedy for each particular ill, with many panaceas besides. The Christian Scientist attacks disease by giving it the cut direct, and by resolutely refusing to recognize its presence. Many of the mind-cure cults accuse me of gross materialism, while the chiropractor can not understand why I do not 'cure' all forms of disease through the 'adjustment' of a vertebra.

"Notwithstanding all these impediments, when surgery is required, or epidemics are to be controlled, or when grave illness strikes your home, I am usually called.

"You have guessed what I am. Some call me 'doc.'

"I am the doctor."

Review of the Season

HORT and sweet is just what a review of the past football season is supposed to be, is expected to be, and is going to be. The past season is practically ancient history to all concerned. To the uninformed, glancing over the record, Tulane did not have such a presentable season, but when everything is taken into consideration, we must say that the season was very gratifying, in that, although the Green Wave lost a majority of the games played, it dashed over the up-state House Cat for the second consecutive year in decisive style.

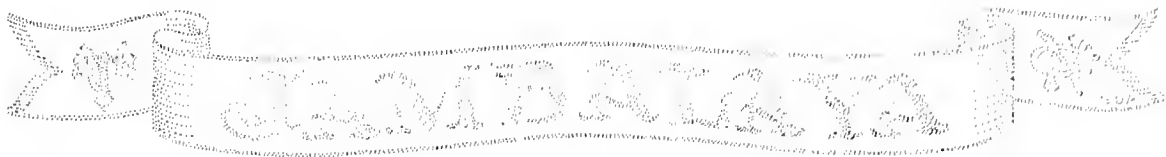

The Tiger has often been credited with the statement that if it lost every game of the season but only won from Tulane, a successful season would have been considered on the balance books. Well; so will we say of the Olive and Blue, although it lost games, the old Tiger was not equal to the task of defeating the Greenies, and we must say that we have had a successful season in so far as our friends from Red Stick Town are concerned.

One of the real outstanding features of the season was the Centre contest, in which the famous and mighty "Bo" McMillan failed to gain any considerable amount of ground against the Tulane team. Tulane battled against the Colonels in the fight of their life, and certainly upheld Tulane honor on the gridiron on that day.

The end of the season was somewhat disastrous for Tulane, inasmuch as the Green Wave was much becalmed to meet the Crimson Tide from Alabama, due to "oil, other than training table, being poured upon the troubled waters," as the game was a post-season affair. But as our old friend Bill Shakespeare once said, "Oil (fusel) is well that ends well," so we will let the year go merrily on its way, and hold up with pride the fact that Tulane was the first eleven to score on the powerful Detroit machine, held the "Praying Colonels" to three touchdowns, and last, but not least, completely washed over the old Tiger.

F. EDW. HEBERT.

REED, Captain (Third Year) Center

When it was regretfully determined that Captain-elect Bill Dwyer was not returning to school the team did not take long to find out unanimously that Eddie Reed was the man to fill the shoes of the leader. (He always led when he had three of a kind, and led in other things also * * * but we don't want to let the cat out of the bag.) When the team went to St. Louis he had his acquaintances well taken care of by Manager Gus Fritchie. Eddie is an extremely patriotic lad, especially when he hears the "bugle blow."

FRITCHIE Manager

Gus is perhaps the best manager Tulane has ever had. Of course, Gus did not allow his managerial duties to interfere with pleasure while on the road, however. The eminent manager was always willing to try anything once, from drinking turpentine (the St. Louis blues) to flirting with a Quaker Town miss. According to those on the trip, the manager upheld the honor of the team both in Houston and Detroit, and it surely was not his fault that he failed in St. Louis. There, while in his room in the hotel, Gus rang for a bellboy at 3 A. M., and got a policeman instead. What did he want at 3 A. M.? Water, of course.

FULLER Coach

Coach had a pretty tough time of it this year, being unfamiliar with the surrounding territory, hence was compelled to work under a handicap; but he stuck to his guns in fine shape. If anyone had desired to see the "Last Rose of Summer" humanized, he should have gotten a glimpse of Coach in the lobby of the hotel after the Washington game at St. Louis. However, he looked more like "Georgia Rose" after the Tiger game, and he surely was not left "blooming alone."

JAMBALAYA

LEGENDRE (Second Year) Fullback

Morris is Tulane's candidate for All-American honors, having been honorably mentioned by Walter Camp. "Hawlfback" swept Detroit followers off their feet with a 95-yard punt and a 60-yard pass in the Tulane-Detroit game. The Tigers could just as well have placed papier-mache before Legendre as the line which they did in the annual set-to at Tulane Stadium. Just to show the House Cats what he thought of them, Legendre crashed forty yards through the Tiger line for a touchdown. Tiger lines look weaker than other lines to Morris. Legendre was always compelled to take his "bawth" on trips.

RAY (First Year) Halfback

Don't think for an instant that "Red" is a freshman because it is his first year on the Tulane team. "Red" is one of the most experienced players on the entire squad, and the only reason that he did not play before was the one-year rule. Ray is former captain of "Ole Miss," but "Auld Lang Syne" meant nothing to him when he helped to defeat his old teammates. "Red" also helped in giving the Tigers hell in the annual battle, when for the second year the Green Wave washed over the House Cats.

H. TALBOT (Second Year) Tackle

"Little Eva" is Eddie's little brother. We are certainly glad that our little brother is not the size of Harry. "Eva" must be thanked for winning the Rice game at Houston, which was close enough to give a spectator heart failure every other minute. During the first half of play Harry broke through the line and blocked a punt, then fell over the line on the ball for a touchdown. It is said that there is still another Talbot to come to Tulane who is a football player. If he is like the two we already have, then it will be O. K. for all concerned—except our opponents.

PHILLIPS (First Year) Tackle

"Hank" came to Tulane rather unknown, but before the football season was over all followers knew of the big, quiet, easy-going fellow who filled gap after gap in the Tulane line. "Hank's" best bet was in the game against Washington at St. Louis, although the many times he was rushed into the various contests marked him as a very promising player.

JAMBATAYA

NAGLE (Third Year) Halfback

"Pinkey" returned to school rather late this season, arriving with the idea that he was not going to play football again, but was going to devote himself entirely to study, and then "build himself a little home out in the West, and let the rest of the world go by." That sort of talk sounded all right to those who did not know "Pinkey," and served as some good press agent stuff, but when the whistle blew Nagle was found with a green sweater on. This Nagle certainly does have strange escapades on trips, especially while talking to friends at Fulton, Kentucky, en route to St. Louis. Ask "Pinkey."

FITTS (Second Year) Tackle

"Dizzy" is especially competent in keeping the ladies "dizzy" on the road. Frank was frequently mentioned as All-Southern material at playing tackle, and, according to "Bo" McMillan, would be a more valuable player to Centre than to Tulane. (We know it, "Bo"; that is why he is on Tulane's team.) "Dizzy" is one of the most consistent linemen who ever plugged a hole for the Olive and Blue. It was not until rather late in the season that Fitts began to get the credit which he deserved for his great playing, but when he got it he surely got enough of it.

PAYNE (Second Year) Tackle

Although it was Virgil's second year on the team, it will be his last, in so far as Southern Conference football is concerned, for Tulane's big tackle was ruled ineligible at the second meeting of the S. I. A. A. for playing thirty seconds in a game four years ago at Sewanee. Virgil during the past year had more tough luck, due to accidents, than any other on the team.

WINLING (First Year) Guard

The only time in which Winling would really fight and show his real worth was by a week's work on the scrub team. Coach Fuller, on his return from Houston, put "Fatty" on the scrubs, and then the day before the Aggie game put Winling in to start at guard. The big boy gave one of the most wonderful exhibitions at guard seen here in a long time. "Fatty" is the biggest baby on the team. His chief amusement on trips was playing dolls with the freshies on the team.

Jambalaya

E. TALBOT (Fourth Year) Guard

After a season's lay-off, Eddie came back with a bang to fill a place in the line. He did not play regularly in the first part of the year, but certainly came into his share during the latter part of the season and upheld the mark which he had previously set for his "small" brother, Harry. Eddie finished his football career for Tulane in the game against Alabama.

FORD (First Year) Halfback

"Tony" is another graduate of the prep schools of New Orleans, having starred at Rugby together with Benny Brown. Albert (that's his real name) never lost a single inch of ground for Tulane during the entire year, which is certainly going some. "Tony" always conducts himself as a gentleman (of leisure, we are told) in the class room, as well as on the football field. Results are what we want, however, and the results are just what "Tony" handed out during the past season.

TURPIN (First Year) Halfback

"Ben" Turpin, the Louisiana speed merchant, came to Tulane from one of Louisiana's secondary schools, but played in regular university style. Legendre brought the spectators to their feet in throwing his famous sixty-yard pass, but Turpin made them gasp in wonder as he stretched out his arms, held tightly to the pigskin, and then ran ten yards for Tulane's touchdown. Turpin is one of the most promising players on the team.

UNSWORTH (Second Year) Guard

We put guard down as Johnny's position, for that is the place where he was slated to perform at the opening of the season. However, guard is no more Johnny's real position than is tackle or end, for Unsworth has pastimed at every position on the line except center, and has held down every position equally well. Some thought Johnny was too heavy for end, but he surely displayed some speed when placed on the terminal.

JAMBATAVA

MALONEY (Fourth Year) Quarterback

"Mal" the politician, will be our field leader next season. It is said that a Frenchman cannot talk without his hands. Well, "Mal" is an Irishman with the characteristics of a Frenchy. Both Paul's mouth and hands keep moving while he is in a game, and if players were fined in football as they are in professional baseball, we think that "Mal's" bills would run high. It was Paul's drop from the thirty-yard line against Detroit which put Tulane in the lead for an entire half.

BROWN (Third Year) Quarterback

Benny is one of the real old-timers on the team. Coming up from the prep schools, Benny carved a name for himself on the gridiron, due to his speed, and judging from the manner in which he handled himself this year, there are quite a few teams who wish that Benny had never heard the word "speed" in his life. "Greased lightning" must have been a term especially invented for Benny, and Detroit, Washington, and the House Cats will vouch for that.

GARCIA (Fourth Year) End

It is perhaps a detriment, and then again perhaps a blessing, that we have no picture of "Teco" to display on the page. For three years Garcia captained the scrubs and was one of the most faithful performers on the "underdogs." This year, when Coach Fuller looked around for an experienced end, he selected Garcia as the man, and it must be said that "Teco" well rewarded his selection, especially in the game against Washington.

PFANNKUCHE (First Year) End

We have no picture of "Fanny." There are more reasons than one just why Henry does not want his picture published. "Fanny" is from the wilds of Texas, and had every newspaper in town guessing for three months just what was the proper spelling of his name, and some are still in the dark. "Fanny's" best piece of work during the year was at Houston. He got up at six o'clock in the morning to meet a train, then finally missed the old thing after riding around Houston for an hour. We do not believe that she was on the train, and that was just his excuse.

WHITE (Second Year) End

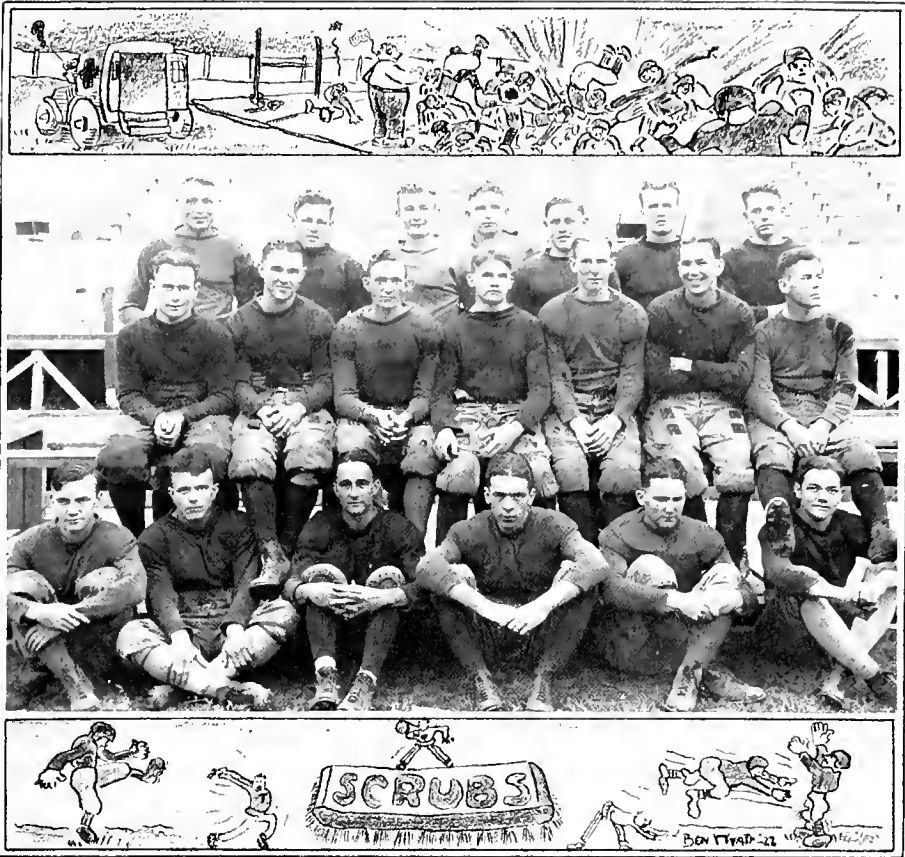

Unfortunately, we have no picture of Dickey, the real jellybean of the entire outfit. But he is also a real football player every inch of the way. "Dickey" is another one of the versatile players on the team. Listed as an end, he has played practically every position on the line, and during scrimmages has even held the center position in lieu of Captain Reed. White is to the Tulane team just what a pinch-hitter is to a baseball team.

MINSKY (First Year) End

It seems quite strange that we do not have a picture of any of Tulane's terminals. Perhaps they are afraid of the police, owing to the many times they have stolen out on the line. Anyway, we have now to deal with "Billy Miske," the elongated black-eyed, wavy-haired little demon of an end. Cy held down his position wonderfully well, and also found out in the Centre game that a fumbled ball was the best remedy in the world for a bad ankle.

The scrubs had an eventful season, as usual, under the expert coaching of Bill Brennan and, later, Lyle Richeson. The team turned out to be a presentable aggregation, considering the difficulties which came up at times. Changing of signals at every varsity game was the main disadvantage. When the second team had the signals working in fair order, the varsity had a game and once more the signals were changed.

Games were arranged with other teams, and during the season the "Little Billow" met St. Stanislaus, G. C. M. A., and Southwestern, showing up exceedingly well against Southwestern (who was formerly on the schedule of the varsity) by holding them to a very close score.

Those not in the picture who played with the scrubs are: Tom Arrington, "Monty" Monlezun, Bill Besselman, Roland Steib, Claude Gilbreath, Dillard, Charlie Lawhon, Jack Walker, Sam Zerkowsky, Bud Glass, Bob Wolfe.

Things to Forget

Forget the slander you have heard,
Forget the hasty, unkind word,
Forget the quarrel and the cause,
Forget the whole affair, because Forgetting is the only way.

Forget the storm of yesterday,
Forget the chap whose sour face
Forgets to smile in any place,
Forget the trials you have had,
Forget the weather if it's bad.

Forget the knocker—he's a freak—
Forget him seven days a week.
Forget you're not a millionaire,
Forget the gray streaks in your hair.

Forget the home team's lost the game.
Forget the pitcher was to blame.
Forget the coffee when it's cold,
Forget to kick, forget to scold.

Forget the plumber's awful charge.
Forget the iceman's bill is large,
Forget the coal man and his weighs,
Forget the heat in summer days.

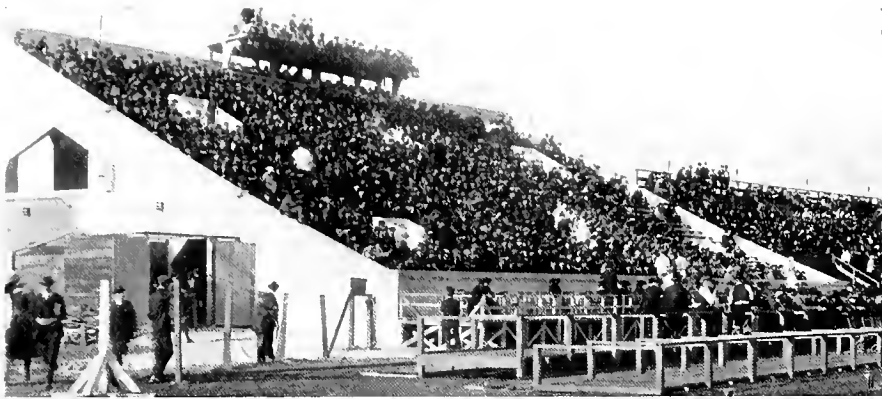

Forget wherever you may roam.
Forget the duck who wrote this poem,
Forget that he, in social bliss,
Forgot himself when he wrote this.

Basketball Review, 1922

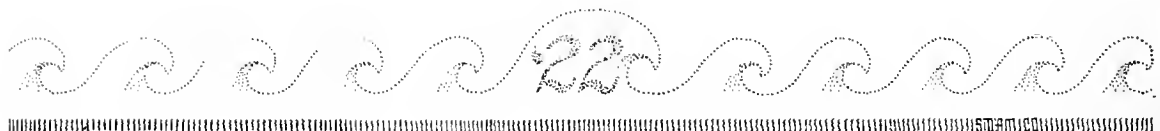

WHEN the season started all indications pointed toward a winning quintet, for "Monk" Simons was again in charge, while Captain Wachenheim, Lantrip, Martin, Dahlman, and Madison of the '21 team, Farnsworth and Legendre of the '20 team, and Dabezies of '19 were out for the team. These were augmented by Lind, Henican, Richeson, Berow, and Gomez. However, injuries and illness hurt the team after four games had been played, and four of the regular team were forced to the sides at different times of the season. We lost three out of four to the Tigers, but succeeded in defeating them on their home floor, this being the first time a Tulane team had accomplished this in seven years. Our road trip was disastrous, but we made a good showing at the S. I. A. A. Tournament, in spite of the absence of our two regular guards.

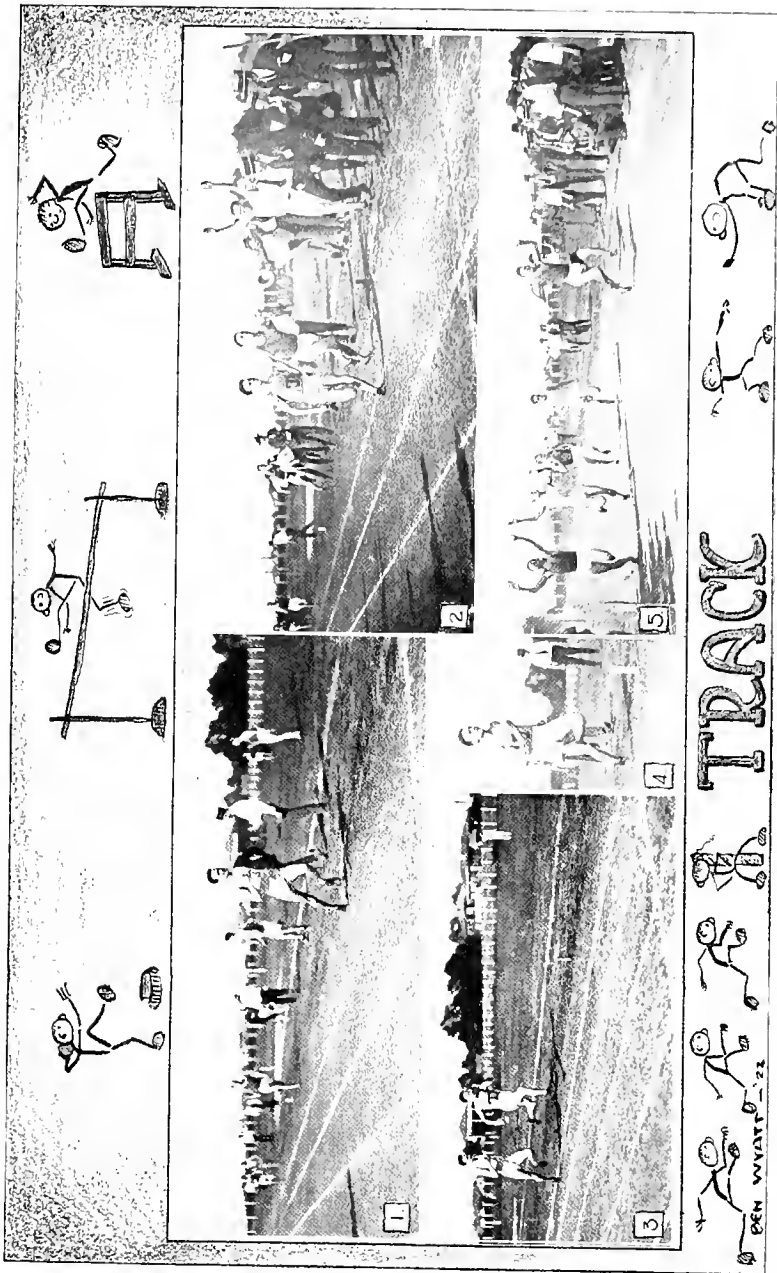

The following men were awarded their letter: Captain Wachenheim, Lantrip, Martin, Dahlman, Madison, Legendre, Lind, Dabezies, and Manager Stiles.

The record of the season follows:

TRACK

The 1921 Track Season

HE track season of '21 was the best that Tulane has had since the war. Two meets were held here, and representatives were sent to the S. I. A. A. meet. The first meet was held with Auburn on April 30, Tulane winning by the score of 94 to 28. Ward was the star of the meet, capturing three firsts and one second place. Captain Gladney won the quarter. Other point-getters were Marks, Bodenheimer, Beaulieu, Legendre, Fitts, and Vennard. The Tulane relay team, composed of Captain Gladney, Leake, Bodenheimer, and Tennant, ran away from the Auburn team.

L. S. U. won the annual meet by the score of 94 to 39. Tulane took three first places and tied for another. Gladney won a hard-fought quarter from Johnson of L. S. U. Ward tied for first honors in the high jump at 5 feet 11¾ inches. Montgomery took both the mile and half mile. There was no relay.

Ward and Montgomery went to the S. I. A. A. at Sewanee. Ward again tied for first with Shirley in the high jump at 5 feet 9 inches. Montgomery took fourth in the mile.

The following men were awarded letters at the banquet: Captain Gladney, Leake, Bodenheimer, Tennant, Marks, Legendre, Beaulieu, Fitts, Vennard, Ward, Siess, and Montgomery. Montgomery was elected captain for the 1922 track team.

Boxing at Tulane in 1921

When Coach Hanson called for men to represent Tulane in the A. A. U. boxing matches at least a dozen of the best boxers in the university responded to his summons, among these being Eddie Davidson, Charlie Miramon, Dick McConnell, Si Mansberg, Sam Zerkowsky, Jack Beven, and Cy Miske.

Under the tutelage of Coach Hanson, these men showed up well in many stags. But when the bouts for the city championships took place, hard luck seemed to trail the university boxers. Si Mansberg and Jack Beven were unable to enter owing to illness; Miramon and Zerkowsky fought their way to the finals, when they were disqualified because of excess weight. The other Tulanians were defeated in their bouts. But, notwithstanding all this, the boxing year was very successful and was instrumental in developing some real talent.

Wrestling at Tulane

Wrestling prospects have never been so bright at Tulane as they are in 1922. Heretofore no concentrated effort was made to obtain intercollegiate wrestling contests, but at the time the JAMBALAYA went to press negotiations had been opened with several Southern universities. The university championships were held in December, and a series of stags planned for the remainder of the year.

A great incentive toward wrestling at Tulane consists in the awarding of sweaters and conditional "T's" to the winners of the annual championships. The 1922 champions were: 108 pounds, Miangalora; 115 pounds, Newman; 125 pounds, Van Horn; 135 pounds, McConnell; 145 pounds, Fiegelson; 158 pounds, Gamble; heavy-weight (default).

The Tulane grapplers will most probably enter a strong team in the Southern championships under the leadership of Captain Richard McConnell. All evidences point to the fact that wrestling is on the high road toward becoming a major sport.

WALTER M. BARNETT, JR.

The Tulane Crew

HE year of 1920-1921 marked a new addition in the field of sports at Tulane. This was the Tulane crew, which owes its origin to William A. Porteous, who was the first to realize the possibilities of that sport here. Arrangements were made with the Ponchartrain Rowing Club for the use of one of their shells, and practice began in November under the expert coaching of Coach "Pic" Avengo, who very kindly volunteered his services. To him a great part of the success of the season was due.

After several months of training a race was arranged with the Ponchartrain Rowing Club and took place in the New Basin Canal, with a large Newcomb-Tulane attendance as well as many others. Luck and experience, however, were against the Tulanians this time, and Ponchartrain gained an easy victory. In their eagerness to get away two members of the crew broke oars, which served as evidence of their enthusiasm if not their skill.

The second race between Tulane and Ponchartrain, which took place a month later, proved to be one of the most closely contested races ever arranged in this city. Tulane got off with a good start and held the lead until within a few yards of the finish line, where they were nosed out by the Ponchartrain boys. The Tulane crew, however, had reason to congratulate itself, for even in losing it broke the previous Southern record of six minutes, thirty seconds with one of six minutes, twenty-seven and one-half seconds. The time of the winning crew was six minutes, twenty-six seconds. The members of the Tulane crew at this time were: Madison, G., Madison, H. F., Porteous, Eustis, Fritchie, Delahoussaye, Perkins, Frue, Dykers, Schwartz, and Spencer.

This year the prospects of a good season are even better. A call has been issued by Manager Frue for candidates, and a race with Ponchartrain has been arranged for the latter part of April. If the financial returns on this race are sufficient, a race with Washington and Lee, and possibly with L. S. U. have come reports of the organization of a crew. In any case, rowing at Tulane has made its bow to the public and will in the near future take its place among the major sports.

W. FRUE.

Varsity Tennis, 1921

Nineteen hundred and twenty-one saw Tulane again coming into her own in varsity tennis. Largely through the efforts of James Morse, '21, was this victory gained. Twenty-six colleges were entered in the S. I. A. A. tournament in Atlanta, Ga. Morse, showing extraordinary speed and using his overhead to great advantage, played through to the finals in the singles, where he met Blake of Georgia Tech. Then ensued the best tennis that has been exhibited in recent years by college men, the play being run into an extra set. Score: 6-2, 8-6, 3-6, 7-5, Morse returning victor.

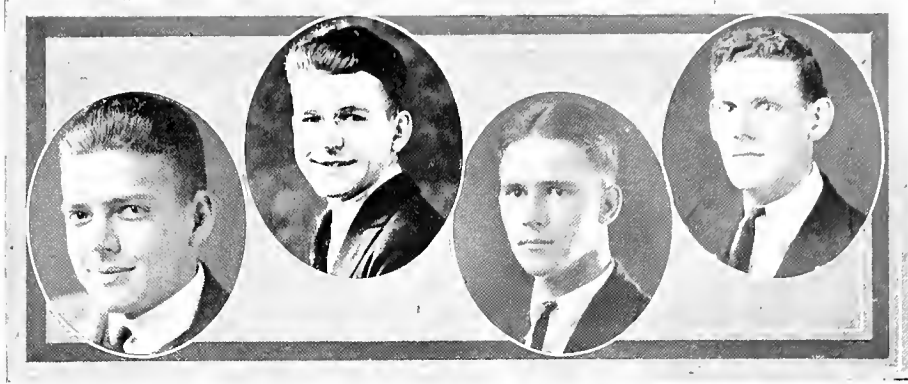

In the doubles Morse and John R. Dykers were defeated in the finals by Williamson and Blake of Georgia Tech.

Too much credit cannot be given to Morse and Dykers for their excellent work.

Varsity Debating Teams

Tulane this year has the best debate schedule it ever had. Debates have been arranged with the University of Texas and Vanderbilt in a triangular debate, with the University of Alabama in a dual debate, and with the University of Virginia. The debating teams are as follows:

To debate Alabama, Vanderbilt, and Virginia

HARVEY H. HEBERT AND WALTER M. BARNETT, JR.

To debate Texas and Alabama

HAROLD MOSES AND F. EDWARD HEBERT

The question to be debated in all the debates is the same; it is, "Resolved, That the United States should maintain a navy of sufficient strength for police duty only, regardless of the policy of other nations." One team debates the negative away, and the other team remains at home and upholds the affirmative of the question.

Never before has the university undertaken five debates, but with the increased interest evinced in debating activities it hopes to advance our prestige along those lines.

The 1922 Tulane Band

The Tulane Band has been in existence for three years, and each year has seen a bigger and a much improved band. Under the management of Buddy Madison, the 1922 Band was more than capable of holding its own against the bands of Tulane's opponents and has been a great asset to the morale of the various teams.

The first two years witnessed a band with few instruments, but still striving to exist, while attempt after attempt was made to raise some funds. Through the efforts of the manager and a few other members, the Student Body Council was made to realize the importance of the band and assumed the task of raising the necessary funds, also using their influence to have a portion of the blanket tax that is going into effect next session set aside for the maintenance of the band, thereby assuring a good and everlasting band.

Marshal Foch at Tulane

The honor of presenting Marshal Foch, Generalissimo of the Allied Armies, with the degree of Doctor of Laws was among those awarded to Tulane University in the past year. This degree is reserved for those distinguished men who have performed services to the world such as to give them an unparalleled place in history. No recipient more worthy than Marshal Foch can at present be found.

December 8, 1921, will always be remembered as one of Tulane's memorable days. Not even the heavy downpour of rain dampened the ardor of the hundreds of Tulane and Newcomb students who greeted the arrival of the marshal.

Prefacing the ceremony of presentation by Dr. E. A. Bechtel, President Dinwiddie made a short address. Marshal Foch, after accepting the degree, addressed the students through his interpreter, expressing his appreciation of the honor bestowed upon him, and commented upon the value of education to the world.

From General Foch, standing on the top steps of Gibson Hall, there seemed to radiate, through the rain and mist, the warmth and feeling which is expressive of the relations between his native land and the United States.

DEAN ANDERSON CONFERRING THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LAWS UPON GENERAL DIAZ

General Armando Diaz at Tulane

The honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, conferred only for exemplary and distinguished actions, was presented twice during the past year by the university, General Armando Diaz, commander of the Italian armies, being the other recipient.

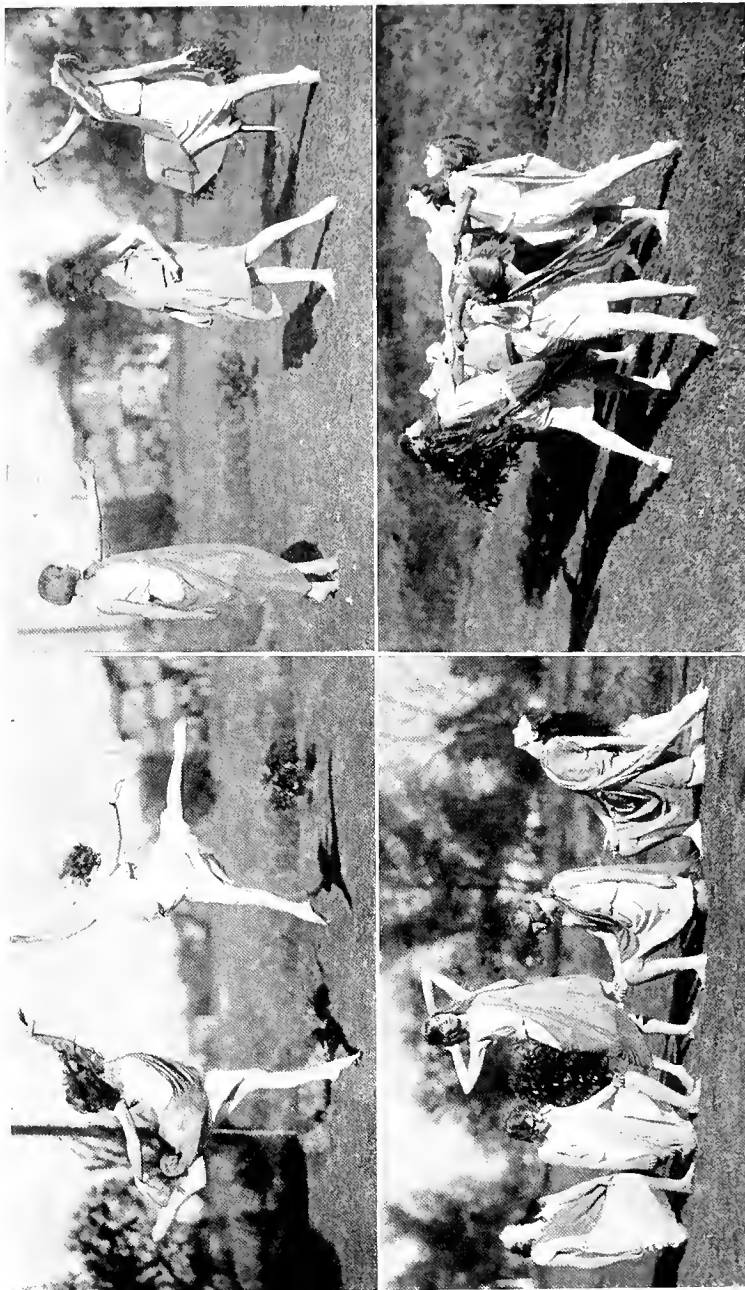

Tulane University felt that no less honor could be bestowed upon General Diaz, hero of the Piava River in battles against the Austrians, than by conferring upon him the highest distinction of which it was capable.

The ceremonies, held in the open, were exceedingly impressive. Surrounded by his aides and accompanied by American officers, General Diaz indeed made a picturesque sight. An introductory address was given by Dean D. S. Anderson, followed by the presentation address of Dr. Melvin J. White. Dean Anderson, the acting president, then conferred the degree.

In response, General Diaz, through his interpreter, addressed the assemblage. His talk was attentively followed, since he spoke on matters which vitally pertained to the youth of today. He told of the sacrifices of Italy, the deep feelings of friendship between his country and the United States, and concluded his talk with an admonition to the youth of America to work for the perpetuation and preservation of peace.

The Tulane Glee Club

In December, 1921, a Glee Club was reorganized at Tulane. For five years our Alma Mater had not boasted of an organization of this kind. The credit for the formation belongs to Prof. Thomas Larremore and J. Olin Chamberlain, a junior law student. Great interest was manifested on the campus, and fifty candidates tried for places on the club. After the preliminary arrangements had been perfected and positions allotted, everybody started to work in earnest.

The first public appearance was made at the Marine Hospital on February 17. This was followed by a splendidly received performance before the Rotary Club of New Orleans. The club showed next at the Second Campus Night. This was the first time that the student body constituted the audience and the reception was most gratifying.

The schedule for the rest of the year includes an exhibition for the United States Music Teachers' Association, a week's engagement at the Strand, and a probable booking over the Saenger Circuit of Louisiana and Mississippi.

The Gym Dances

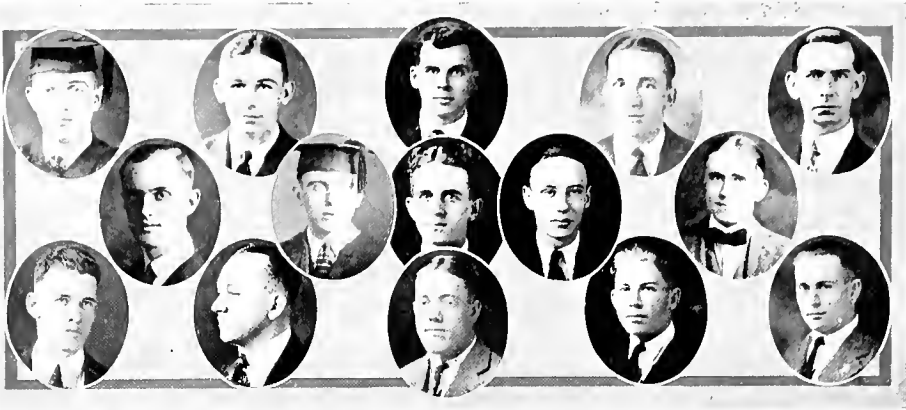

Under the auspices of the Student Council a series of dances were given at the Tulane gymnasium during the year for the benefit of student activities not otherwise provided for.

The first dance was given on November 19, 1921, following the L. S. U. game, Tulane, Newcomb, and L. S. U. students only being admitted.

Other dances followed at about intervals of two weeks. The largest crowd of the season was present at the dance of February 25, when the best dancer and most beautiful girl present were selected, their pictures to go in the Feature Section of the JAMBALAYA. Debating, basketball, the band, and other activities on the campus benefited from the proceeds of the dances, which continue to be one of the social successes of the university.

The Y. M. C. A. has long been in existence on the Tulane campus. The moral, mental and physical needs of the student which are not cared for in the other phases of college life are the particular field of service of this student organization. It acts as a clearing house between the student and such vital matters as his church, living accommodations, employment in spare time, and social life. It is the center of campus life, fostering those things of interest which too often are everybody's business and, therefore, nobody's business. The financial support of this organization comes from the student body and the faculty through voluntary subscription.

Campus Nights

After the first performance, held October 22, 1921, the success of Campus Nights was assured again this year. Six acts, comprising a dance by Marjorie Hay, a recitation by Aline Richter, a feature by Christine Sprague, a violin solo and two quartets, were staged.

These performances, held in the Y. M. C. A. building, were literally played to packed houses, as there was never enough room for the large crowd.

The second Campus Night was held on March 18, and included ten excellent acts. They were stunts by the four classes at Newcomb, the prize act, by the sophomores, receiving a handsome cup. The Glee Club made its first appearance before Tulane-Newcomb students and provided excellent entertainment. Johnny Madden, the boy composer, with the able assistance of M. L. Crawford, rendered a delightful selection of his own. An excerpt from "Madame X" was well executed by Aline Richter and Felix E. Hebert. The Mandolin-Guitar Club also gave a good recital. The announcement of Kappa Delta Phi election was one of the features of the night.

Further entertainment is being prepared by the committee for future programs.

FOREWORD

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Before going further, let's have an understanding. No lover of truth could possibly appreciate the pack of complimentary lies in the preceding pages. Henceforth, the lurid light of reality shall disclose the true species of the insects which mar the natural beauty of the tree of life, and if we spare but one, may direct torture seize us for doing them injustice. If you are not hurt we will be sorely disappointed.

If you consider yourself slighted when you fail to find herein flatterful mention of your frontal topography or your police-court record, don't blame us if we don't know you. You must be a mediocre, dangling member of the kind that don't fit in. We put in everybody we dislike and we are soured on everybody we know. And we know everybody in disreputable society. If you want publicity you should have made our acquaintance earlier.

If, on the other hand, you want to thank us for putting you in, stay away. The only thing that keeps us from becoming murderers is the distance between us and you. We have mangy spots and your presence is no soothing ointment. Thinking about you has ruined our disposition. We lunch on hammers and sleep by preference in a hardware store. Knocking comes natural.

You may think you're good and think others think you're good. Don't kid yourself. Here are the things that the editor cut out of the regular write-ups. He has a sense of decency; we have a sense of humor. We love facts, so we put them in. If you don't like our wisdom, you have no sense of humor. Everything in this Annual is a joke except what follows. So read aloud and listen attentively.

Things that Never Happen

Noodie Frith is seen and not heard.

Eddie Talbot is elected most popular man in the law student body.

Buckets Milam is elected to all honorary scholarship Fraternities.

The Kappas agree that the Pi Phis have the best Chapter at Newcomb.

A girl medical student flunks out.

The Betas and K. A.s swear eternal friendship.

Moseley refuses to flunk over 50% of his Freshman Chemistry class.

Newcomb Faculty announces in favor of sororities.

Pierce Butler is chosen "most handsome man."

Moseley refuses to agree with the D. K. E.s in Pan-Hellenic meetings.

Dooley Glenn, Sarge Newburn, Pinkie Stiles and Frank Cato become ardent Prohibitionists.

Things that Make Us Laugh

Janice Owens and her string of "fish."

These Newcombites and their crushes. For instance, Miss Frotscher and Alice Odenheimer, Frances Ferguson and Rita Unga, Lila Phillips and Margaret Roberts, etc.

The peculiar fondness certain Newcombites developed last year for washing their hair with kerosene!

How Vic Mills runs first with the Chi-Os, then with the A. O. Ps, etc.

The Betas refusing to allow their men to join Kappa Beta Phi.

This third eyebrow that some of these boys try to develop. For instance, Don Armstrong and George Fisher. Reminds us about the baseball team moustache joke—nine on each side!

The Sweetheart of A. T. O.

By JOHN LYNTON MADDEN.

(Tune: Sweetheart of Sigma Chi.)

The girl of my dreams is the sweetest girl
 Of all the girls I know;
 Each fair co-ed like a rainbow trail
 Fades in the afterglow;
 Her eyes are blue, and her heart's as true
 As none on this earth below;
 And tho' she wears a Delta pin,
 Let's all pretend—she's the sweetheart of A. T. O.

Piquant Pops

It is rumored around school that a certain young Phi Delt, before he became a member and when a student at the University of Alabama, asked a Sigma Chi to lend him his badge to wear during the Christmas holidays.

And then we chance upon another tale which is going the rounds about the Deke pledge who thinks he is such a devil with the ladies. Now this boy's shoulder has the habit of getting dislocated when he plays football or the like. He and a girl were on the back seat of an auto one night when this happened, and— He admitted later that she was wonderfully strong. Newcomb, too.

The Ideal Girl, upon being interviewed, said that her ideal man must not drink, smoke, etc. This brings to our minds a series of very gay "parties" which were pulled off in Monroe, La., last summer, and, incidentally, a "wonderful" Sigma Nu who takes law at Tulane has quit the "corn" for good.

The above mentioned girl says she uses no rouge because she blushes so much she does not need it. Personally we never heard of her blushing. She should, though, after that interview. And did you see what she said about dancing? Boy, how she musta changed since we last danced with her!

Have you heard anything about the blonde S. A. E. dental student whose name frequents Newcomb's bulletin board? That boy got cold-cocked for half an hour one night down in the Irish channel. We heard the girl's "steady" happened to run into them.

An A. O. Pi sophomore has discovered an ideal courting place on the shaded steps of a public school near Newcomb Dorm. It seems as if she was a little "slack" to let the secret out.

We hear that one of our prominent A. T. O. law students, besides composing new words to the "Sweetheart of S. X.," has also composed a poem dedicated to the president of the A. & S. student body, and said poem, recited at a dinner party, caused Dick no end of embarrassment. Also Johnnie with Richie, Tummy and J. Barleycorn compose a wonderful quartet at the dances. We have heard that on Johnnie's account a certain Pi Phi will not wear her Delt pin to A. T. O. dances.

We wonder when that athletic young Beta will decide to moderate his tones so that all the west wing of Newcomb won't hear him make love to Piggy. They say he has a good line, too.

Why does Red Montgomery try to vamp that girl at Newcomb when he's engaged to a lady in north Louisiana?

Eddie, the senior K. A. lawyer, hasn't taken a drink in a month. They said the red-headed lady in Richmond Place had much to do with it. We hope we get an invitation.

Where does Oscar Bienvenue take his dates every night at Newcomb? Boy, you'd better be more careful. Some one has seen you; but your secret is safe with us.

Do you know why that girl who lives on Short Street told Wheelock that he was as rough as a "frog-headed longshoreman"? We always thought that Velie was too small for gentleness.

Did you ever notice that professor who blooms out in full dress at all Newcomb parties? We think he holds the chair of gum-chu-ology, and he knows how to do his stuff.

The boys report that Joe Richardson went under before he finished his second quart at the Kappa Beta Phi initiation; but knowing Joe as we do, it is hard to believe. Did you see him at the Owls' initiation?

The Delts have promised to buy Sarge Newburn a Ford if he won't get drunk for just one week. Boys, your money is safe.

We hope that Eddie Talbot and Gus Fritchie will be considerate enough to put out advance notice about their next fight. We missed the last one. "Git fer home, Bruno!"

Full blown, red lipped, with raven hair,
Like gleaming stars her eyes—
A maid the fairest of the fair.
'Tis she I idolize.

She yawns at ten; at twelve she wakes
To sip "cafe au lait."
At two "Mam'selle" her room forsakes,
And rises for the day.

At dinner she is much alive—
She hardly seems the same,
She was so languid just at five.
Midnight finds her aflame.

No more asleep, the breath of life,
Her Latin blood roused high,
She laughs, she sings, her pleasure rife,
The sounds mount to the sky.

You'll find she surges thru your veins
Like rare, old, fiery wine.
Here in my breast she always reigns—
This Creole maid of mine.

GODCHAUX'S

A Ballad of Booze

(With apologies, of course, to Rudyard.)

I've taken my drinks where I found 'em;
I've sipped and I've soused in my time;
I've had my pickings of liquor,
And some of the lot was prime.
Rye, Scotch, Irish and Bourbon,
Beer with its collared foam,
Cordials and wines from the sunkissed vines,
And some that was made at home!

Now, I'm never a connoisseur,
For taking it all along
You never can tell till you taste it,
And then you are like to be wrong.
There's times when it's smooth as velvet,
There's time when it rasps like a file,
But the bootleg stew or the old home brew
Is the stuff that knocks you a mile.

I was a young'un when Volstead
Warn't known past his old back yard;
I started the game on cider,
New England cider—and hard.
I found it could kick you kiting,
Like a cat in the midst of a fit,
With a hangover bun that weighed more than a ton,
And I learned about liquor from it.

Then off to prep school they packed me,
Close to a big, wicked town
Where the youngsters slipped off in the evening,
Ambitious to do it up brown.
There on the "hack-drivers' cocktail"
(Whiskey—beer chaser) I lit.
Next thing I knew was just coming to,
And I learned about liquor from it.

Then University followed—
Muenchner and Pilsner in steins—
Fizz of sloe-gin—undergraduate sin—
And tentative sippings of wines.
Mixed 'em all once at class banquet;
Sank thru a rainbow shot pit
As I swung on a cop that I thought I could stop,
And learned about liquor from it.

Then o'er the wide map I wandered,
Drinking it all as it came—
Vino, far east in Manila;
Pulque, of Mexican fame;
Whiskey and soda in London;
Absinthe in Paris. Why quit
When each country I found brought some new drink around?
And I learned about liquor from it.

Then came the Era of Uplift,
And the private stocks ran dry;
In edged the bootleg salesman,
And the stills dripped fast on the sly.
Moonshine in old Mississippi,
Hot from the mash, I hit.
The doctor I drew said, "He may pull thru."
And I learned about liquor from it.

Then I was guest at a party
Where the host was a wizard with yeast
And the hops and the malt stuff and raisins.
The sun glowed red in the east
When homeward we lurched, still roaring
At jokes home-brew told us were wit.
Man—what a head! Next three days in bed!
And I learned about liquor from it.

Then came a bootlegger's visit:
"Aged in wood—hundred the case!"
Grabbed it, of course, man! A bargain!
Wonder he kept a straight face!
Seals, corks and stamps seemed all right, too.
Sample was smooth. Yes, I bit!
Called in my friends—but that's where friendship ends!
And I learned about liquor from it.

I've taken my drinks where I found 'em,
And always I've paid for the same;
But the pay I have earned is the lesson I've learned:
That the home-brew and bootlegger game
Are great—for the guy who don't drink 'em.
I'm off, while my eyes can still see.
So be warned by my lot (which I know you will not),
And learn about liquor from me.

A Tribute to the Fraternities

INTRODUCTION

It is useless to write this article, because we have no Fraternities at Tulane, and even if we had we would be ashamed to admit it. But after all we are constrained to admit that there are certain people on the campus who band together in groups, wear a pin with pearls and a dead language on it and call themselves Greeks. Any self-respecting Greek would be ashamed of them. They think they are social lions, they think they are politicians and run the school, in other words, they think they are IT.

But we must put up with life's little tribulations and throw the light of Truth upon Amalgamated Order of Greek Politicians. Allons.

KAPPA ALPHA

The most refreshing boys on the campus! The sweet, simple, modest, country kind, who don't drink or chew, and who only a mother could love. Haven't gotten over their country habits of riding around in gas buggies without coats, hats or vests yet, but they'll learn—the little dears! And really they think they're such devils with the ladies! Real heart breakers, you know—living up to their motto, I suppose—I hate to be a gloom—but from what I hear—.

Yes, and did you notice how the little angels vamped all the Freshmen this year?

Bless their hearts! They are indeed rising in life—and will after death if they keep their sweet childish natures.

DELTA TAU DELTA

The best example of "goofs" ever displayed since 1859. In fact, the whole family is "goofy," and displays the characteristic tendencies of the jelly-fish. No backbone, no brain, no individuality, no character, nothing but an existence which is usually eked out around corner drug stores. The food consumed is usually drink—anything but H₂O—they even find wet gutters more comfortable than dry ones—softer, you know.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON

Some said there was—others said there wasn't. We investigated. After looking over the returns of the race for tennis manager we became convinced there wasn't—but after still more investigation, looking at the bottom of the scholarship list, we found there was once a Chapter here. In fact, a remnant still exists! However, further investigation revealed nothing more than that they have a wonderful athlete—ineligible this year—and that they have been giving rushing parties at the Quartier Club under the guise of a scrip dance—"Only this, and nothing more."

ZETA BETA TAU

Since all the Fraternities have to be mentioned, we might as well mention the Zetas—you see one of them on the campus now and then. They have a habit of pledging men from Texas and sending them back home before initiation, but probably the Faculty has something to say to that. They seem to think the school was made for them to run, and they do run a few things—to the ground. When it comes to running for office they remind us of the old grey mare. It's too bad there isn't any Varsity Basketball player to pledge this year—they might not win the cup now. Having lost a Fraternity house, they are now trying to lose a Fraternity. Bon voyage.

PHI DELTA THETA

Just as hard to kill Phi Delta Theta as it is to bury their lifelong friend John Barleycorn. In fact, they are both such kindred spirits that you rarely see one without the other, and to tell the truth John has moved a great deal of his luggage over there—but the rest is better “still.”

The Phis seem to lean toward the law course—which only proves our theory that they need the protection of the courts. Yes, and it's a good thing that men don't make their debut, for if they did there wouldn't be a single Phi at Tulane—we'd be reading in society news about the “chawming” masculine debutants of the season.

SIGMA CHI

Not so successful as lovers, I hear—but what does that matter? Later on the Chapter can get together and organize a nice comfortable little sewing circle—and some of them might even think of working, might be able to keep a peanut stand, or they wouldn't have much trouble keeping a drug store—lots of pills around the house.

KAPPA SIGMA

Going on the theory that we can do as we please, and that this is a rotten section, any way, we decided to put them in. Besides we think they are about as worthy of mention as the O. T. A's. This “gang” have awful ambitions—“Be a Kappa Sigma girl and we'll elect you best dancer and get your picture in the beauty section.” We note a scarcity of New Orleans girls at the Kappa Sig dances—these girls must know them as well as we do. But they stand awfully well at the Newcomb Dorm.—in fact, we understand that this Club is a sister

What we would like to know is if “Pledge” Harry Stiles attended all the Beta meetings?

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

“United we stand—divided we fall!” which most probably explains the reason why Beta Upsilon Chapter has made such a speedy descent and—exit—faded from view entirely—with the exception of Blissful Bill, who has turned into a wild and woolly debutant delight and loves his hooch. As for the rest—gosh! a bunch of snappy, catty, fussy, crabbed old maids. “If you don't like the lace I sewed on my B. V. D's I'll say that the perfume you use is horrible.” “Now if you don't pay me the money you owe me I'll move into another house and won't play dolls with you any more.” Ain't that love in a cottage?

SIGMA NU

This isn't a Chapter—it's a mistake—a ghost of the past whose bones seem to clank around the medical school mostly. Soon the Chapter will be a recollection and not such a good one at that—anyway it'll be a good riddance—diseases like Sigma Nu never add to the attraction of the University.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

This introduces the most-thought-of Fraternity in the world. We say that and we mean that, for every S. A. E. thinks of himself first—in fact, conceit seems to be the essential requirement for membership. They are good—if you don't believe it, ask them! With the acquiring of a house they have increased their membership—necessity is the mother of invention. They are lions—but of what? Surely not social, though they seem to have aspirations—I hear they are “sick lions!” They used to Seek Alcohol Energetically, but this year they seem Sad As Everything! But they have ambitions—one is even trying to raise a moustache.

SIGMA ALPHA MU

Another Irish gang! Hurrah for the Shamrock! But since Miske left school we've been unable to identify or locate them—they must be closet members. (No Charlie, not a cellar gang—but the kind you lock up during rushing season.) But when talking about them, we remember that “Silence is golden,” and like these Irish, we are after gold!

PHI KAPPA SIGMA

It is with regretful hesitancy that we focus the public gaze upon this anti-New Orleans poker club, though that W. & L. boy seems to have eyes on them. They remind us of the 13th beatitude, “He that expecteth nothing shall not be disappointed.” It seems that, since they began running a boarding house, they no longer need town boys. They are heavily represented on Broadway and at Newcomb—by the way, I hear their joy and pride, a strutting Broadway “Jelly” (O Agnes, ain't he cute?) has converted a Newcombite from Brenau into a strong rusher. With such an attraction we wish them luck with the “Phish Kontinually Sought”—and realize they must indeed be fish!

DELTA SIGMA PHI

The only Fraternity on the campus that has no excuse for its existence—admitted by one of its members—in fact its member. And still it lingers on. Nobody ever heard of them until our sporting editor wrote them up, and they've tried to be sports ever since. They claim they want a man for what he is and not for his scholastic ability—and by looking at their pledges they seem to get them. We've said too much about them already. The only time you ever notice them is when they congregate together near the Law School, after every period. Poor things, they have no happy home to go to.

OMICRON TAU ALPHA

The O. T. A. Fraternity is a rather small man, with bum teeth, close-cropped hair, would-be-politician inclinations, and a heavy line, who founded the “Order of Sons” and now runs the hullabaloo. After fighting Frats for his whole college career he and his friends managed to hoodwink four susceptible fraternity men, ruin a first-class basement to make an imitation Frat house, kidded the Pan-Hellenic and Faculty into recommending them and now are about to deceive a sure 'nuff Frat into giving them a charter. All of which reminds us "You can fool some of the people all the time—" Perseverance hath its own reward. Boy, you'll be a Greek sometime!

SIGMA PI

The only way they could get in the University was by taking the Dean of the College of A. and S. in their Chapter. The Dean is introducing a new vogue of wearing his pin on his lapel during rushing season. The other members button their coats tight over their pins and thus fool a few freshmen into believing they are somebody. They're young and bashful yet. In fifty years they might (?) amount to something.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Having lost their ablest politician they are trying to get along as best they can.

They have a hard road to travel, so "Papa" comes up and visits them every week. He listens to their tale of woe and lets them weep on his shoulder. The Pan-Hellenic can't hold a meeting without him. He's training a young law student to take his place—but he'll probably die before he learns anything. As they are slowly recovering from an attack of the "Hammets" its best to leave sleeping dogs lie—with apologies to the dogs.

Editors' Note—We regret lack of space prevents our mentioning the remaining social Fraternities, viz., Beta Theta Pi, but think it might be just as well, as we feel that no matter how uncomplimentary our remarks, they would only compliment the real condition of this so-called Fraternity, especially since the addition of their last two spring pledges.

Recipe for a Flapper

To one large part of perfect savoir faire
Add rouge and powder, lipstick and bobbed hair;
Stir in two eyebrows, plucked, of course, with care,
A pinch of skirt, and knees both plump and bare.
Next add a measure of risqué remarks,
A dash of spirits, lots of daring larks;
Pour in hooch-flavored joy rides, season all
With pep and spice; mould a la baby doll,
Then shimmy briskly on a hectic blaze
Of jazzy nights and bridge, tea dancing days,
Or roast wherever sewing circles meet;
Serve with some gingery dressing—not too sweet—
And garnish daintily with jelly beans (Made just the same from Maine to New Orleans). —Copied.

Hockey Hints

By MARGIE M. MOSS

In the days of Methuselah
They didn't play hockey,
Which is most probably the reason
Why they lived so long.
But now, do you suppose
That Mary Jones would take John Smith
For better or for worse,
If she thot her married life
Would last as long
As Mrs. Methuselah's?
Do you think for a moment
That she would darn stockings,
Buy woolen underwear,
And see that hundred or so
Little Johns and Marys
Washed their ears
For 969 years 365 days
As Mrs. Methulesah did?
Never!
So, to help people
End their lives gloriously
And at a nice age,
And incidentally to help along
Darwin's theory of "overproduction"
And "Survival of the Fittest,"
Hockey was invented.
And to this end, Newcomb athletes
Have striven for the past two months.
It's a glorious way to die! Really!
And what a thrill it is to get hit
On the shin, with one of those iron sticks!
What ecstasy it is to Take your shin home with you
(If there is enough of it left)
And show the remains to your proud family!
Ah! with what exquisite delight
Do you feel your ankle turn
At the crucial moment,
While you sink to the ground
Clasping that dismembered part
Of your anatomy in your arms
And roll over and over on the Kind, sympathetic grass.
And then, you walk all the way home
In order to enjoy your limp
And to let the world see
That you are a war veteran
And expect a bonus from the government.

Four Years of College

By LEMON ADE

Once there was a Boy who decided to Go away to College. So he Packed his Grip and journeyed to Tulane. This boy had one Ambition, he wanted to be a writer, so to start rite he took a course in Engineering to learn how to Draw on his Imagination. This Youth was a Grate Football player, and so he went out for the Team. He found it hard to spend more than Two hours a day at Lessons, finally he went to Class only Once a Week. But he was a Wonder on the team. When Mid-Terms came around the Faculty told him he had Flunked in every subject, and gave him a Pink Slip. Which shows how Hard it is to Please everybody.

Next Year he came back in Commerce. The Book-keeping he learnt helped him Out on the Race Track where he ran his Own Book. He tried playing Basketball, but the Faculty Intervened again, as he Never attended Classes and he was given the Sweet Good-Bye. Which shows that Commerce is some help, anyhow.

The Field was not yet closed, because he entered Arts and Science Next. This proved Ideal. He could Sleep in all his Classes during the Day and have a Date every Night. Once while he was Dreaming in class a Prof. asked him what were Pat Henry's famous words, and he Murred, "You have such wonderful Eyes." Which shows that the Faculty don't appreciate Beauty.

Law next Attracted him. The Bar always did anyhow. He devoted his Time to the Great American Indoor sports. Thru the Agency of Cards he Contracted some bad Debts which led to a course in Bills and Notes and the hocking of some Personal Property, which was as far as he went in the Course.

Just before Leaving for Home for the Last time he said, "I don't Believe the university Wants me."

In his Own Home Town, one day while playing Mumbly-Peg he struck oil and now he is a Millionaire.

Moral—To be a Success you must Attend College.

It was an Algebra test and the student was confronted with the following problem:

If twenty men reap a field in eight hours, how long will it take fifteen men to reap the same field?

The student thought long and carefully, and finally put down the answer:

The field having been already reaped by the twenty men could not be reaped by the fifteen.
